Shorter Hours, Increased Pay to Regular Workers Sign of Co-operation

THREE HUNDRED and three new employees, with salaries amounting to a yearly figure of approximately $263,375.00 are sharing in Santa Ana payrolls this week. The Register's survey on NRA results showed today, indicating President Roosevelt's NRA program is having a direct beneficial effect upon this city.

From the list of 843 firms or persons who have signed the NRA regulation agreement as reported on the six honor roll sheets received by Postmaster Terry E. Stephenson, 340 establishments have been interviewed in the survey by The Register, which shows that 151 of the firms have hired the 303 new employees, with 66 of the men and women working part-time.

The tabulations to date:

INTERNATIONALLY FAMOUS GERMANS ARE EXPATRIATED

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—(UP)—Three internationally known Germans now abroad, including Authors Lion Feuchtwanger and Heinrich Mann, were deprived of citizenship today. Their property in Germany was ordered confiscated.

Minister of Interior Wilhelm Frick issued the decree, basing it on the law of July 14 against enemies or potential enemies of the state. Those affected were cited as communists, socialists or pacifists.

They included, besides Feuchtwanger and Mann, the authors Ernst Toller, Gerhard Bernhard and Alfred Kerr; the socialist leaders Philipp Scheidemann, Rudolph Breitscheid, Otto Weis and Friedrich Stampfer; two former Berlin police officials, Albert Gieszinski and Bernhard Weiss; the communist leaders Wilhelm Muenzenberg, Heinz Neumann and Wilhelm Pieck, and the pacifists

Honor Heroic Naval Petty Officer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(UP)—Chief Petty Officer Ernest Will Cagle of the U. S. S. Milwaukee was awarded the navy cross for heroism by Secretary of the Navy Swanson today.

Cagle, a chief turret captain on the cruiser, prevented a gunpowder fire which might have resulted in the loss of several lives during battle force target practice on May 11 last.

The Milwaukee now is with the fleet on the west coast.

PROFITEERING IS CHARGED AS PRICES GO UP

Government Leaders Predict "Buyers' Resistance" as Increase is Noted

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(UP)—American department store prices are so much higher now than they were last winter that government leaders predicted today the rapid approach of "buyers' resistance."

An up-to-the-minute price list, from which the administration is drawing important conclusions, revealed today that almost everything in a city department store has risen in cost 11 to 87 per cent.

Muslin sheets have advanced by the latter figure. Reversible blankets have gone up 85 per cent. Many other articles have risen 40, 50 and 60 per cent.

Blame Cotton Increase

Most of these advances are based upon a 50 per cent increase in the wholesale price of cotton goods, which the agricultural adjustment administration intends to investigate at a public hearing on Sept. 1. Figures upon which the AAA bases its argument that flooding is rife in the cotton textile business were revealed exclusively by the United Press 12 hours before Secretary of Agriculture Wallace announced them yesterday.

Further cost figures show what the housewife faces when she goes shopping in a typical department store.

In analyzing the figures an official in agricultural administration circles said he believed buying resistance was imminent. Representative articles taken from the wholesale price report shows the following variations:

Table Shows Variations	Costs	Costs

DEMOCRATS OF STATE SPLIT OVER WARDELL

Santa Barbara Editor's Protest Over Appointment Opens Party Breach

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 25.—(UP)—California Democracy which united factional forces to blend the Roosevelt-Garner ticket at the Chicago nominating convention last year, renewed factional strife today.

The fight simmered over the patronage appointees of U. S. Senator William Gibbs McAdoo, original Garner leader, and the recent appointment of Justus Wardell of San Francisco, as regional director of federal public works. Wardell is a close friend of Theodore Dockweiler, original Roosevelt-for-President leader in California.

Dockweiler accused George W. Lynn Santa Barbara editor and McAdoo supporter, of urging county committee members to resist the Wardell appointment. Wardell was chosen despite the protests.

Admitting he had protested the appointment, Lynn assailed Dockweiler and Wardell for contesting McAdoo appointments.

"Whatever I have said or conveyed to friends by long distance telephone is no more than Mr. Wardell and Mr. Dockweiler have done in opposing the entire program of Mr. McAdoo for a new deal," Lynn told the United Press. He challenged Wardell's competency and denied that McAdoo had influenced his protests.

Further evidence of a breach today by Patrick Cooney, Los Angeles Democrat, who assailed McAdoo in no uncertain

The end came peacefully in his sleep.

How Come A Preacher Had $8 Cash?

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 25.—(UP)—It might be honor among thieves, and again it might be respect for the clergy—

Two holdup men last night robbed Rev. Llewellyn Wilcox of Glendale of $8 as he sat in a parked car with Elizabeth Carron.

"Don't you know this gentleman is a minister? You should be ashamed of yourselves," Miss Carron said indignantly.

Hurriedly the bandits talked over their breach of etiquette. They gave back the money and drove away.

RETAIL STORE REVISED CODE IS COMPLETED

Agreement Applies to All But Food, Drug Stores; Provides Supervision

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(UP)—A revised code for the nation's retailers, intended to regulate the advertising, competition, wages and hours of 1,500,000 stores employing 5,000,000 persons, was put into final form by the National Recovery administration today for submission to President Roosevelt.

Applying to all but food and drug stores, the code was altered at the conclusion of hearings last night.

Deputy Administrator A. D. Whiteside termed it "the greatest trade agreement ever made." He indicated that under the revision it was nearly in the form in which it would go to Mr. Roosevelt for executive approval.

Hours Are Fixed

A 40-hour work week was prescribed for employees of stores hitherto operating 52 hours or less, a 44-hour week for stores operating 55 to 60 hours a week, and a 48-hour week for stores operating 63 or more hours a week.

Minimum wages of $14 a week for 44 hours work, and $15 a week for 48 hours was provided in cities of more than 500,000 population.

The scale was fixed at $13 to $14 in cities between 100,000 and 500,000.

PAIR CONFESSES TO S. A. ROBBERIES

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 25.—(UP)—Believed to have looted dentists' offices along the coast of hundreds of dollars worth of gold, two youths, Joseph Buchalter, 21, Hollywood, and Lawrence Rhuark, Lansing, Kansas, were charged with burglary in complaints issued here today.

The two were arrested on suspicion of stealing an automobile from San Luis Obispo and, police said, confessed burglary of dentists' offices in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, San Diego, Santa Ana, Salinas, Ventura and Daly City.

Preliminary hearing was set for Aug. 31. Buchalter's bail was set at $5000 and Rhuark's at $4000.

BYRD PREPARING FOR EXPEDITION

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(UP)—The Pacific Fir, supply ship of the second Byrd expedition, sails for Boston today for drydock repairs. Preparations for the Antarctic voyage were in an advanced state.

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd in a hurried visit to New York, said his expedition would get out within two months.

Byrd said he was not ready to make public names of all the 70 men who will accompany him, but among the expedition members but he Commander George O. Noville, Harold I. June, and Paul A. Siple.

LAMSON STARES AT DRAWING OF WIFE'S SKULL

Doctor First Witness in Murder Trial Diagrams Wounds on Victim

SAN JOSE, Cal., Aug. 25.—(UP)—The skull fractures which supposedly caused Allene Thorpe Lamson's death were diagrammed in red and white chalk on a courtroom blackboard today when the state opened its case against David A. Lamson, Stanford university intellectual charged with murder.

Lamson stared fascinated as Mr. Milton Sailer, Palo Alto, outlined the shape of a head, then located each of the four fractures he found on Mrs. Lamson's skull. The "conservative" jurors—seven men and five women—also were impressed.

"Heavy force would be necessary to inflict such wounds," Sailer testified.

Waive Opening Statement

He and Dr. Blake Wilbur performed the autopsy on Mrs. Lamson's body, found in a bathtub of her campus home Memorial day. Wilbur is a son of Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, former cabinet officer and now Stanford president.

By presenting Sailer immediately upon the opening of court, the prosecution waived the usual formality of an opening statement.

The move was a distinct disappointment to Lamson's defense, which had expected to hear a detailed statement of what the prosecution expected to prove in charging the defendant with killing his wife.

"We wanted to get started right away and not lose any more time," said Prosecutor Allan P. Lindsay in explaining the move. Selection of a jury took four days.

Orchardists Predominate Jury

The jury that will hear the state's allegation that Lamson killed his wife because his love for her was frustrated is typical of this quiet Santa Clara county orchard community.

Average age of talesmen is well past midway of life's span. Most of the men are orchardists or fruitworkers in executive positions. The women are housewives, daughters or wives of orchardists.

They represent the majority opinion of a country that remained "dry" long after other communities had renounced prohibition. They are considered conservatives.

ONE NEAR DEATH IN STRIKE BATTLE

YAKIMA, Wash., Aug. 25.—(UP)—One rancher was near death from a fractured skull, several suffered less serious hurts and about 75 men and women agitators were held in the county jail today as the outgrowth of labor troubles between fruit growers and striking pickers.

Smoldering hatreds broke into flame when the growers banded together and fought the agitators with clubs, rocks and farm implements.

Charges of first degree assault against the strikers were being prepared by Prosecutor Olaf Sandvig. He said that if rancher J. C. Young dies of injuries, more severe charges would be filed.

TWO MEN BURNED IN YACHT BLAST

LONG BEACH, Aug. 25.—(UP)—Two men were suffering from severe burns today sustained in a fire and explosion that destroyed the palatial 55 foot yacht Cleveland while it was lying at anchor at the Lighthouse Catalina Island.

Capt. W. G. Dare, skipper, was burned perhaps fatally in assisting Herbert R. Browne, engineer. The madman suddenly pulled a gun and shot 'McDonald' in the chest. He fired several more shots to intimidate the crowd as he slowly backed his way toward an exit.

As the bullets crashed through the crowded market, clerks and patrons dove under counters behind pillars, back of piled merchandise.

Threatening to shoot any one who moved, the man left the market. A crowd of about 100 followed him into Mission street, shouting "he just shot a policeman."

Jennings walked slowly, keeping the pursuers at bay with his gun. Two plainclothesmen passing in a patrol car heard the cries and

Four Injured In Collision On Highway

Mrs. Erna Barnes Receives Fatal Wounds, Husband's Condition Critical

MRS. ERNA BARNES, 31, 1015 Lowell street, was killed and four persons, including her husband, Ravlis Barnes, and Mr. and Mrs. Major Anderson, 2412 Heliotrop drive, were seriously injured, in an automobile accident at 11 o'clock last night at Euclid and LaPalma avenues west of Anaheim.

Husband Unconscious

Anderson, 35, who was driving the car in which the Barnes were riding, is suffering from an injured back, and severe cuts and bruises. Barnes, 32, was still in an unconscious condition this morning from a possible fracture of the skull, compound fracture of the leg, broken left shoulder, internal injuries and cuts. Mrs. Anderson is critically hurt, suffering with a broken jaw, four broken ribs and possible internal injuries.

Harold Curtis, 30, 320 West Malvern street, Fullerton, driver of the car which struck the Anderson machine miraculously escaped injured when his car overturned, but his wife received cuts on the leg. The injured motorists were

SET DEADLINE FOR PARLEYS ON COAL CODE

President Roosevelt Wants Constructive Results By Next Tuesday

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(UP)—President Roosevelt was understood today to have fixed next Tuesday as the deadline for concrete constructive results from conferences here of non-union coal operators and officials of the United Mine Workers of America.

The president's wishes, it was learned, were communicated to those traditional enemies of the soft coal industry when they met down for their prearranged meeting, arranged in an effort to evolve a workable code of fair practice under the NRA.

Plea For Co-operation

The setting of a deadline was not in the nature of an ultimatum but rather in the form of an earnest plea for co-operation in a situation.

CRAZED KIDNAPER WOUNDS TWO; KILLED BY OFFICER

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25.—(UP)—A crazed kidnaper, suddenly running amok, wounded a policeman and a woman bystander today before a plainclothesman killed him on a crowded street.

The maniac was tentatively identified as Henry Jennings, said to have been a former ferry company ticket collector.

After holding William E. Wood, Sausalito, a prisoner for five days, Jennings forced his captive to accompany him to Crystal Palace market, busy shopping center. There they saw Patrolman Michael J. McDonald.

Madman Starts Firing

The madman suddenly pulled a gun and shot 'McDonald' in the chest. He fired several more shots to intimidate the crowd as he slowly backed his way toward an exit.

As the bullets crashed through the crowded market, clerks and patrons dove under counters behind pillars, back of piled merchandise.

Threatening to shoot any one who moved, the man left the market. A crowd of about 100 followed him into Mission street, shouting "he just shot a policeman."

TROUBLE LOOMS IN ENDING OF FILM STRIKE

Union Leaders Threaten to Appeal to Government to Force Re-employment

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 25.—(UP)—Union leaders threatened to appeal to the federal government today to force producers to reinstate 3000 motion picture technicians under terms of a strike settlement negotiated by the national labor board.

Concurrently, discord broke out from a new quarrel as film agents and the screen writers guild assertedly attempted a boycott against the producers and the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Science because of a disagreement over the industry's proposed NRA code.

Union leaders were disappointed by the producers' failure to re-employ the striking craftsmen in a body. Only 100 were reported in unofficial estimates to have found their old jobs yesterday when the four-week walkout was officially announced. Although producers announced acceptance of the national labor board's decision, none would promise wholesale re-employment.

Lindsey Notified

Arthur B. Rose, attorney-associate of Judge Ben B. Lindsey, counsel for the strikers, said he notified Lindsey in Washington of the situation.

Producers were vague in a statement, officially recognizing a termination of the strike. Victor Clarke, spokesman, said:

DE CESPEDES GOVERNMENT TEMPORARY

Cabinet Calls General Election for February 20; Offices Declared Vacant

END MACHADO REGIME

Constitution is Nullified, Nation Returns to Basic Laws Adopted in 1901

HAVANA, Aug. 25.—(UP)—Cuba's revolutionary government agreed today to wipe out the vestiges of the Machado regime and to call a general election for February 20, 1934.

Congress was declared to be dissolved.

The constitution enacted under former President Gerardo Machado was ordered nullified in favor of the basic constitution of 1901.

All provincial and municipal executives and legislative offices were declared vacant, as were all supreme court posts filled after May 20, 1923, when Machado began his second term.

President Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, head of the revolutionary government, prepared to sign decrees carrying out the decisions at once.

Will Start Over

The decisions were made to return the nation to its pre-Machado status and begin afresh from there.

De Cespedes and his officers seek to continue in office until proper elections can be held.

Officers elected next February will take office May 20.

As a matter of formality, it was voted that Machado's term was ended.

In voting the new deal, the government ordered a consultative commission created. This commission, which may become important, is to propose modifications in laws necessary to effect the new measures.

The government said it would comply with all international obligations contracted by Machado in the republic's name.

Cubans awaited with interest the reactions of the United States to the cabinet's decisions.

washed to the Anaheim Sanitarium where all are confined except Mrs. Curtis, who returned to her home.

Coroner Earl Abbey announced today that no date has been set for the inquest for Mrs. Barnes, who is the twenty-eighth victim of traffic accidents in the county this year. It will probably be held tomorrow morning from the Backs, Terry and Campbell funeral parlors in Anaheim, where the body was removed.

Reports of the accident by investigating officers indicate that Anderson, who was driving east on La Palma avenue, failed to make the boulevard stop and drove directly into the path of the Curtis machine. The new sedan of the Fullerton man struck Anderson's car squarely in the center and caused it to skid 60 feet into a walnut grove without turning over. Both cars were completely demolished.

Victims Unconscious

Anderson and Barnes, riding in the front seat, were thrown clear of the car while the two women were pinned inside. All four were unconscious from the impact but all regained consciousness when received at the hospital except Barnes. Mrs. Barnes lived for one hour after the accident.

The two couples had been visiting at the home of Mrs. William Haggar, aunt of Mrs. Barnes, on La Palma avenue and had driven only 300 yards on the return trip when the accident happened. Barnes is a service man connected with the George Belsey Company, Ltd., of Santa Ana, while Anderson, formerly connected with this firm, planned to open a new basement cafe at 235 North Broadway tomorrow. Curtis is a mechanic connected with the garage of his sister-in-law, Lillian Yeager, Fullerton.

Mrs. Barnes died from internal injuries and head injuries. She is survived by her husband, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fischer, Huntington Park, three sisters, Mrs. Bert Hathaway, Alhambra, and Mrs. C. E. Moon and Betty Ann Fischer, both of Huntington Park.

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Aug. 25. (To the Editor of The Register:—) As usual, Al Smith made the best speech on the N.R.A. The most sensible and clear reasoning in support of it. I hope in all this readjustment that some real important place could be found where we could utilize that fellow's good common sense. And talking about what people said. This McCormick of Chicago, who has just returned from Germany, editor of the great Chicago Tribune, (no, I don't write for it) says very astonishingly, but no doubt truthfully, "Along with the youth of Germany in this war spirit is the women. When bigger wars are made, women will make them, as always."

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PROFITEERING IS CHARGED AS PRICES GO UP

In all cases the same quality of goods was used for the prices of last winter and of today. Addition of a reasonable profit for the storekeeper reveals how much consumer costs have increased.

Officials were doubtful whether all these price rises could be laid solely to cotton processing taxes and to increased labor costs under the blue eagle.

The blue chambray work shirt was taken as an example. Last winter such a shirt sold at retail for 60 cents. It contained slightly less than a pound of cotton, costing about six cents.

Today the same shirt costs the working man 95 cents. It still contains the same amount of cotton, now costing 9-12 cents.

Cost of the shirt has gone up 35 cents, while cost of its principal ingredients has risen three and one-half cents. How much of the difference can be laid to higher labor costs and how much to profiteering is a subject upon which government accountants are working.

uation which hourly grows more acute.

John L. Lewis, president of the U. M. W., is emerging from the national recovery program as one of America's dominant labor leaders. But for the present he is having extreme difficulty in keeping miners from striking.

The defiant attitude of coal subsidiaries of the U. S. Steel corporation has been answered by the national labor board which assigned an investigator to report on cases where workers are alleged to have been discharged because of union activities.

Name Investigator
Dr. Elmer F. Andrews, New York state industrial commissioner, has been instructed to collect evidence through the troubled coal fields of Kentucky and West Virginia.

The conference between the non-union operators of the northern and southern fields and the miners' representatives made little progress at the opening sessions yesterday.

The first business was toward organizing committees to take up the problems that must be solved or adjusted before a code can be written. There will be 16 of these on each side.

terms, shortly after returning from Washington.

"McAdoo," Cooney asserted, "has consistently represented all other interests except those of California."

Criticize John Elliott
His criticism also involved John B. Elliott, a McAdoo leader and prominently mentioned as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor in next year's primaries.

One prominent Southern California Democratic leader, declaring "it looks like war," believed the national administration would maintain a "hand's off" policy in the dispute. McAdoo's support of the Roosevelt-Garner ticket and Dockweiler's and Wardell's close friendship with the President and Postmaster General Farley would not make it policy for national leaders to take sides, this observer believed.

Lynn in a statement to the United Press said in part: "I did protest the appointment of Mr. Wardell, as against that of Mr. H. H. Cotton of Los Angeles, and I feel that, in doing so I did nothing more than either Mr. Justus Wardell of San Francisco or Mr. Isidore Dockweiler of Los Angeles has done."

"Whatever I have said or conveyed to friends by long distance telephone is no more than Mr. Wardell and Mr. Dockweiler have done in opposing the entire program of Mr. McAdoo for a new deal."

"I personally and individually do not believe that Mr. Wardell is qualified, either by capacity or experience, for the position of grave responsibility to which he has been appointed, as I protested to my friends several weeks ago, and I feel the protest was based upon the same logic today."

COLANICHICK NEW MANAGER FAMOUS STORE

P. F. Colanichick, for six years assistant manager of Van Antwerp's department store and well-known in Orange county merchandising circles, has been announced as the new manager of the Famous Department store, Fourth and Bush streets, succeeding George Keough, who has been transferred to Pasadena where a new store is being opened.

The new Famous executive is well acquainted with the needs of Santa Ana and Orange county and his friends predict great success for him in his new position. He has had wide experience in buying in Eastern markets, supervising the operation of large stores, and catering to satisfied customers.

In an interview today, Colanichick said it was a source of great satisfaction to have made this connection with the Famous Department store and with the assistance of its capable organization so well founded by the former manager, predicted great future possibilities in the growth of the store.

The new manager outlined his plans for the coming fall buying season and was optimistic toward the upward trend of good times.

Mr. and Mrs. Colanichick and daughter Nadine have lived in Santa Ana for many years and have their own home at 1412 North Garnsey street.

DECEPESDES REGIME CALLS FOR ELECTION

American Ambassador Summer Welles favored continuing the present congress in session until electoral reform laws could be passed.

De Cespedes' Statement
Emerging early today from the historic cabinet session, President De Cespedes said:

"I hope that this will set at rest all speculation and that we may now go ahead with the program of the great mission which the country has confided in me. As you see I have given up one year of the presidency, serving only until next May. I do not want to occupy this post a single minute longer than is absolutely necessary for the welfare of my people. We are confident that all friends of Cuba, and all friends of law, justice and order, will sympathize with us in this decisive moment in our history."

Speculation rose whether by its action the government had made itself a de facto one, which might bring into question its full recognition by foreign governments.

The cabinet otherwise. Machado's government was a de facto one," said Minister of Justice Carlos Saladrigas. "Ours is constitutional."

The cabinet's decree outlined in detail the reasons for its action—namely, that the constituent assembly which passed the 1928 constitution was an illegal one, and that Machado by illegal acts had made his government unconstitutional. The fact also was noted that many members of congress had resigned and others had fled.

In view of this, the decree said, and in order to reestablish constitutional legality and return the nation to tranquility, the government's decisions were made.

RETAIL STORE REVISED CODE IS COMPLETED

000; $12 to $13 in cities between 25,000 and 100,000; $11 to $12 in cities of 25,000 to 100,000, and, in villages of fewer than 25,000 all wages will be increased from June 1 levels by not less than 20 per cent if it does not require more than $10 a week. A differential of $1 a week less for workers in Southern states was retained.

Price Increases
The code provided for no merchandise price increases of more than made necessary by the application of the recovery act. Appropriate adjustments of existing contracts was provided for by the national retail trade authority.

The provision of advertising prohibits the "bait offer of merchandise" whereby retailers attract prospective buyers and then through disparaging sales presentation dissuade purchase of the advertised article and substitute other merchandise, on which a greater profit is realized.

No reference may be made in advertisements to competitors' prices, values, credit terms, policies or services. Advertisers also were forbidden to claim a continuing practice of generally underselling competitors.

Provide Supervision
The trade authority would be empowered to require reports from retailers, make investigations and recommendations for the administration, supervise the setting up of local code enforcement bodies and act generally as a planning and fair practice agency.

It would consist of representatives of the president and two each from furniture, hardware, mail order, clothing, dry goods, shoe and limited price stores.

The question of prison made merchandise was left open for later settlement by the trade authority.

The code would become effective one week after it is signed by the president. Various kinds of retail stores were sharply defined.

BREMERTON, Wash., Aug. 25.—(UP)—A 15 per cent wage increase was expected for employees of the Puget Sound navy yard "sometime in September," it was announced from Washington, D. C., yesterday.

THIRD PRISONER MAKES ESCAPE FROM CUSTODY

For the third time in two weeks, a statewide search for an escaped prisoner has been launched by the sheriff's office following the bold escape of Charles Brophy, serving six months for burglary, from the laundry crew at the Orange County hospital Wednesday afternoon.

According to reports learned today, Brophy was eating lunch and suddenly complained of dizziness from the heat of the laundry room. He walked to the door, stepped outside and walked away from the grounds before being missed. He was a trusty and would have been released on December 27 of this year.

The first escape was on August 12 when George Anderson, trusty on the chain gang at Irvine park, made a successful getaway and has not been seen since. William E. Boyd, federal prisoner who dropped three stories from the hospital by means of a rope made from sheets, is still at liberty after being missed early Monday morning. He stole a car and clothing from a nearby ranch and was traced to San Diego, where he wrecked the car and is thought to have participated in a cafe robbery.

HUNTINGTON BEACH BEATS 'CATS' AGAIN

Huntington Beach made it two straight over Santa Ana last night in the current series for the Orange County Night Ball league by defeating the Green Cats, 3-2, in a brilliant pitcher's battle at Huntington Beach. The teams return here Monday for the third game of the series, and the last if Huntington Beach wins again.

Santa Ana got off in front, scoring in the fourth inning on hits by Andres and Plister. The Oilers took a 2-1 lead in the seventh and the "Cats" tied it in the eighth, only to have Huntington Beach make a winning run in its half on Marshall's single. Callahan's forceout, a passed ball, an error on Coates and another passed ball.

Youel and Coates, rival pitchers, were in top form. Coates fanned 11, Youel 10.

TWO JAILED OVER DEATH WARNINGS

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(UP)—Mr. and Mrs. Mark Levy, spiritualists, were held today charged with writing letters to President Roosevelt and other nationally prominent men, warning them they would be killed tomorrow.

FORESTRY WORKER KILLED BY TREE

FOREST GROVE, Ore., Aug. 25.—(UP)—Frank Palmer, 21, C. C. C. worker from Marcel, Illinois, was instantly killed by a falling tree while fighting a forest fire along the Wilson river.

PAYROLLS TO BE INCREASED BY $263,375

Although their amount of business does not warrant the hiring of additional employees at the present time, numerous small establishments have announced that they are cooperating with the president to the fullest extent. Virtually all of them have shortened hours, raised the wages of their regular help, and announced that new employees will be added just as soon as business conditions permit.

During the depression several firms have maintained more help than really needed, allowing a group of employees to share in the work which a less number could do in regular hours, proprietors have reported. The salaries of many have been considerably higher than the minimum now set by the N.R.A.

Announcement has been made by a few firms that they will employ new help early next month.

INSTALLATION OF COUNTY SET ANTICIPATED

Prospects of a police radio broadcasting station for Orange county brightened last night when Chairman Willard Smith of the board of supervisors told members of the Orange County League of Municipalities, meeting at Hi-Hi Tavern, Three Arch bay, that the county probably will establish a station for cars used by the sheriff's office. He said it will save expense to install the equipment and operate it.

Cities probably will be able to share in the service by paying a proportion of the cost of maintenance, which was estimated by Sheriff Logan Jackson to be about $4500 per year. The plan was endorsed by the league, which did not commit any of the cities to back it.

Sheriff Jackson spoke on the broadcasting project. After telling of the nation-wide effort to combat organized crime with modern methods, he declared that if all cities had radio equipped cars the roads of the county could be locked so that no bandit car could escape. He said the cost of installing a 100-watt station would be about $5500. The government, he declared, will not issue a permit for more than a 50-watt station for any community of less than 100,000 population. For that reason it was planned to take in the whole county with its 130,000 population and he sought the cooperation of the cities. The cost of installing receiving sets in police cars will be between $40 and $60 each, he said.

Declaring that it is cheaper to prevent crime than to pay for investigation, arrest and conviction, the sheriff painted a word picture how in less than two minutes every portion of the county would be on the track of any criminal or criminals who had committed a crime in any section.

Mayor W. L. Hall of Fullerton and Mayor Hermann Hillmer of Newport Beach wanted the matter referred back to the several councils. Mayor Frank B. Chamberlain of Laguna Beach said the city council of that city already has endorsed the plan. Mayor Thomas P. Murphree of San Clemente spoke in favor of it.

PENALTIES ON UNPAID TAXES TO BE LIFTED

Charles Bogue, an expert from Los Angeles, made a report on recent tax legislation, explaining the workings of many of the bills passed by the last legislature, at the meeting of the Orange County League of Municipalities at Three Arch Bay last night. A great deal of interest was manifested in the legislation for relief from the Mattoon Act districts and for delinquent taxpayers.

Bogue predicted that a bill passed by the special session of the legislature, which permits the assessor, any time within five years, to levy on personal or real property that has been missed in making the assessment, will be vetoed by Gov. Rolph. One bill, which has been signed, permits a property owner to pay a portion of the taxes assessed and segregate a parcel, covered by the amount paid, from the rest of the property. The segregated portion cannot be sold for delinquency.

The speaker clarified the situation regarding paying off of delinquent taxes in installments. All taxes due up to July 1, if not paid before Sept. 6, will be free of all penalties and may be paid off in ten installments, the total amount due to bear seven per cent interest, he declared.

The property owner applies to the auditor for the right to get back on the tax rolls. It was explained, and all current taxes must be paid promptly. The taxpayer signs a form in the auditor's office and it is called a rental of the property by the state. But if the current taxes are not paid the taxpayer loses his right to redemption. However, there will be no sales at public auction this year or next, the speaker said.

Albert Launer, city attorney of Fullerton, asked many questions regarding publication of delinquent tax lists, stating that the cities were too poor to pay the cost and wanted to know if posting would not have the same effect. The speaker advised that it was better policy to publish the first time.

City Attorney Milburn G. Harvey of Laguna Beach, spoke briefly on the public works program and offered to let any of the city attorneys or other city officials see the application made in behalf of Arch Beach sewer district in Laguna Beach, which has been held up as a model by the federal administrators.

The next meeting will be held Sept. 28 at Seal Beach.

JOBLESS GROUP MAY RECEIVE FEDERAL AID

Hope for federal aid for unemployed organizations in Santa Ana and other parts of Orange county loomed brighter today when Harry Jones, representing R. C. Branton, head of the State Emergency committee, arrived in Santa Ana to attempt to work out a program for appropriations of government money for the unemployed groups.

Jones, who is the head of the committee on cooperatives, conferred with County Welfare Director Byron V. Curry this morning concerning means of effecting the establishment of government aid. Jones declared that the government was ready to help the unemployed groups provided regulations are followed.

Los Angeles has been set up as a proving ground for the experiment started by the government. It was learned. In that county the government is furnishing half the money needed by the unemployed groups for food while the county is required to furnish the other half. In Orange county it is doubtful if the county could supply the necessary half which is required. However, efforts will be made to find some means of extending aid to the unemployed.

Through Jones, the federal government will work with the unemployed groups in the county to provide supplies if it can be shown and proved that the supplies afforded to be effective job and actually save money for the taxpayer.

Following the conference, Curry announced that a conference will be held Monday afternoon in the conference room on the third floor of the courthouse annex, which Jones will attend and to which representatives of all unemployed organizations in the county will attend. Representatives of the unemployed groups are expected to present a strong case to Jones in an effort to secure the government assistance, which is the first ever proffered in Orange county to unemployed organizations.

WORKERS PLAN ACTIVE DRIVE FOR RECOVERY IN TOURNAMENT

Officers of the military organization set up in Santa Ana to combat the depression and to work out the detailed plans for the final drive here which will be launched Monday to sign up every business house and resident of the city in the NRA program, were busy today completing final plans following an enthusiastic meeting of all officers last night in the chamber of commerce offices.

Every officer appointed, from Commander George A. Raymer down to the lieutenants, was present at the meeting last night. Thousands of consumers' agreements under the NRA project, which specify that signers will support merchants and workers who are members of the NRA, were prepared for distribution next week.

The entire city was mapped out and captains were assigned to their precincts for canvassing the city. Captains, both men and women, will be in charge of the work under the supervision of Colonel Jules Markel, who is heading the NRA sales army.

Captains include Plummer Bruns who will work with Mrs. Frank Patterson; W. B. Martin, teamed with Mrs. J. L. Stone; Frank Kose, with Mrs. W. Brakeman; Allison Homer, with Mrs. Robert Northcross; Curtis Burrows, with Mrs. Frank Drumm; Neal Meister, with Mrs. R. O. Winkler and Earl Hawks, with Mrs. Aldrich Worwick.

Mayors last night organized a campaign for the business district, and enlisted the services of four lieutenants to aid in the drive to sign up every business house in the city which has not yet joined the NRA movement.

FARM CREDIT MATE OF GIRL HEAD REQUESTS BLAST VICTIM COUNTY SURVEY FACES CHARGE

Henry Morganthau Jr., governor of the Farm Credit Administration, will be in Southern California the early part of next month. It was learned today in a letter received by W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor for Orange county.

Cory announced today that every effort will be made to bring the national head of farm financing program to Santa Ana when he visits this section.

Morganthau is coming to the southern part of the state to make a personal inspection of agricultural conditions and crops, and the view of learning how federal credit agencies might better function in the district for the relief of agriculture.

In connection with the visit of the national executive, the agricultural extension service of the University of California, Orange county division, has been asked to make a survey of conditions in Orange county for Morganthau's personal use. The extension service began making the survey to learn how government loan agencies are functioning under the present program for relief of farmers.

The main purpose of Morganthau's visit is to get the direct reactions of borrowers from federal agencies, which include the Federal Land Bank, the Intermediate Credit Bank, the Joint Stock Land Bank, the Regional Agricultural Credit corporation and the Crop and Seed Loan organization, which is administered by the secretary of agriculture.

Edward Sizer, husband of Mrs. Delma Lois Sizer, 17, girl mother who was fatally burned in an explosion in her Orange home on July 14, voluntarily returned to Santa Ana today, pleaded guilty to non-support charges filed in February and has his preliminary hearing set for August 29 in Justice court.

The surprise appearance of Sizer followed the apparent closing of the case after an unusual trend of events. Married in June, 1932, the couple did not live together more than a few days. Following the birth of their child in December, Mrs. Sizer filed the non-support charges in February but the whereabouts of the husband was unknown and the warrant was never served.

Mrs. William Benton, sister of Mrs. Sizer and in the home at the time of the explosion, is still missing after being released on her own recognizance on a possession of liquor charge. The baby was taken by the county welfare department and given to an Orange county family. It is understood. The mother died from her burns on July 31, after fighting a battle for her life at the Orange County hospital.

MUNICIPALITIES LEAGUE OPPOSES FEEDING ITINERANTS; PROTESTS CHARGES AT JAIL

A resolution was adopted at the Orange County League of Municipalities meeting at Three Arch Bay last night calling for a discontinuance of the practice of giving food and shelter to itinerants, "stopping in or passing through the various cities of Orange county." It was offered by Mayor W. L. Hale, of Fullerton, after such action had been approved by the mayors' committee to which it had been referred. The resolution contained the statement that transients "take advantage of the offer of assistance so given and that conditions at the present do not justify the continuance of the practice at the expense of the cities and their taxpayers."

The Public Forum

Communications under this heading must be signed by the name of the writer. These communications express the opinions of the writers of them. The opinions may or may not be the opinions of The Register.

Editor, Register.

It was an educational treat to read your three editorials of August 23 entitled: "The Two Sides of a Problem," "A Way Out" and "The Insidious Enemy." All three dove-tailed more or less on the questions that are now paramount in the minds of the American people in general, the subject of food, shelter and clothing.

I should like to add a "truism" that Mr. Hearst omitted, and one which I think is not presented often enough, viz: "That the stomach rules the world." When this truism becomes more clearly understood by those who have the machinery of production, distribution and exchange in their control, so much easier and quicker it will be to arrive at something near a practical solution of the damnable economic conditions we are now undergoing.

Mr. Hearst is quoted as saying: "Theorists in Washington should have in mind that business is motivated by profits." He should have added "irrespective of how those profits were acquired."

Again quoting Mr. Hearst: "If profits are to result, business must not be asked to adjust itself to radically new social conditions too rapidly." I should like to point out that the adjustment must be "rapid" or it will be useless.

Mr. Hearst and others of his way of thinking must come to realization of a vital fact that the man who leads us out realizes that the American people are not going to be forced down deeper, but that the one who owns the means of production and distribution, who has the legal title to them, must co-operate with those who have not, so there will be a sharing in the benefits, to the end that all receive sufficient for the necessities and the comforts of life. As the human race in its climb upward and onward, advanced from savagery to slavery; slavery to feudalism, feudalism to capitalism, so now the time is ripe for a change from capitalism to something which will be beneficial to the American people as a whole and not for the benefit of a comparatively few Americans.

Your article "The Way Out" was very thought-provoking and I quite agree with your summing up of the past actions of the American Federation of Labor, and I will go further and say that the A. F. of L. is not a "union" in the true sense of the word, but is actually a "job trust." The officialdom in general have been too busy perpetuating themselves in office to exert themselves on behalf of the poorly paid unskilled workers in industry, with the result that these vitally necessary workers have been exploited almost beyond endurance, and the skilled worker organized in the A. F. of L. has benefited itself often at the expense of the unorganized, unskilled worker. The A. F. of L. as a representative of a privileged class of worker must give way to some organization that will represent the workers in industry as a whole.

Your editorial "The Insidious Enemy" would be a credit to any writer. You are to be highly complimented upon your ability to forget your party affiliations in favor of our common good. Would that there were more like you, who would or could take their eyes away from the advertising angle in the newspaper industry long enough to come out with an unbiased opinion of how conditions really are, and how best to remedy those conditions.

Wishing you every success along the lines of intelligent leadership. R. J. LEWIS.

Although declaring that he favored the resolution in principle, Mayor Frank B. Champion of the host city of Laguna Beach declared it often had been deemed safer to look up itinerants found on the road at night, rather than try to separate the sheep from the goats. After the resolution had been adopted, there was a prolonged discussion prompted by a vigorous negative vote by Mayor Thomas F. Murphree of San Clemente who made an appeal from an humanitarian standpoint for the "really deserving men traveling the road." Through the co-operation of citizens, he said, San Clemente has established a hut where 2800 itinerants were fed last year. The hut was kept open for three meals a day.

"We want to give these young fellows, who are trying to get work, a chance to make good citizens," declared the mayor. He continued that it is getting harder every day for hitch-hikers to get a ride. Mayor Clyde Watson of Orange and others spoke against the already-adopted resolution, but it was not reconsidered.

Sheriff Logan Jackson and Willard Smith of Orange, chairman of the board of supervisors who were present, were "put on the spot" by many speakers in connection with the effort of the league to have the charge of 40 cents a day for prisoners boarded at the county jail reduced to 24 cents, the sum paid by the county. Mayor Champion, who led the discussion for the mayors' committee, had the secretary read a letter from Chairman Smith, which read in part:

"While we fully appreciate the spirit in which this request was made we cannot but feel that in view of the many items of expense which necessarily enter into the maintenance of these men and women that the charge of 40 cents per day is fully justified."

"The price of 24 cents a day per prisoner which is paid by the county to the sheriff for food is fixed by law, consequently we are not privileged to make any revision of this charge. In the full maintenance of a prisoner the cost of food is only a portion of what rightfully should be considered. We have such items as fingerprint work, blankets, towels, food refrigeration, electricity, gas, water, and not infrequent calls for medical and dental services, hospitalization, etc., as well as replacements of kitchen and laundry equipment which necessarily takes place more frequently in an institution of this nature. We are sincere in the belief that instead of realizing a profit of 16 cents a day on city prisoners the county is rendering this service at a loss and in this connection the outside districts should receive consideration."

This brought a storm of questions to Jackson and Smith from Mayor Hale, who sponsored the investigation, and others. Mayor Hale wanted to know why if the citizens of the cities paid taxes, the cost of extra maintenance was not included. Chairman Smith declared that on such reasoning the cities should not have to pay anything for the feeding of the prisoners, but asked the city officials present to consider the assessed valuation in the county in proportion to taxation. He said he would be glad to go into the matter further. Sheriff Jackson called attention to clothing and shoes given to many prisoners when they leave the jail. Councilman A. C. Hasenjaeger of Santa Ana called attention to the fact that the cities pay the same tax rate as the outside territory, with the exception of the road tax, and that the rate includes the upkeep of the jail the same as it does for the country districts. The matter was referred back to the mayors' committee for further report.

WHIST PLAYERS SIGNED UP FOR CARD TOURNEY

Some of Orange county's outstanding bridge players have filed their entries in the Amateur Contract Bridge tournament being sponsored by radio station KREG.

Probably one of the most interesting teams entered in the tourney is E.M. Fuller and C. H. Toose, both of Santa Ana. Fuller and Toose have played cards together for many years and are expected to offer serious opposition during the contest. For many years Fuller was a devotee of whist, later taking up bridge whist, then auction bridge. Later he became an enthusiast over contract bridge.

As most of the present day players of contract started with the play of auction without having played whist or other forerunners of today's game it will be interesting to watch the contest between masters of the old game and those of the present bridge era, those in charge said today.

Some of the outstanding teams entered in the contest to date are: Mrs. Sam Haddon and Mrs. Benjamin J. MacMillen, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Fulkerson, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Becker, Dick Ewert and Ernest Gould, Harold Serene and John Newcomer, all of Santa Ana; Mrs. Gerald McComber, Fullerton and Mrs. Elsie Skinner, Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bennie, Placentia; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Chaffee, Fullerton; and John Golden, Santa Ana and Gerald McComber, Fullerton.

WOMAN DRIVER FORCES CARS OF SHERIFF, MAYOR OFF ROAD

Driving down the wrong side of the road proved embarrassing last night for an elderly woman motorist who rounded a curve on the Coast highway south of Laguna Beach and narrowly missed wrecking the cars of Sheriff Logan Jackson and Mayor Frank Champion of Laguna Beach.

Jackson, accompanied by Supervisor Willard Smith, and Champion, having as a passenger Hal Forrest, Laguna newspaperman, were returning from the meeting of the Orange County League of Municipalities at Three Arches bay. They were considerably startled to see an approaching car on the wrong side of the road and had to drive into the ditch to avert collisions.

Both Champion and Jackson pursued the motorist, who finally stopped in the center of the road when Jackson sounded his siren. The woman was horrified to learn that she had been driving on the wrong side of the highway and was insulted when she was given a sobriety test. "Why, I have never touched liquor in my life," she retorted to questions. "I must have worrying about my sick sister in San Clemente and didn't notice your cars."

Convinced that the woman merely had a mental lapse and was not intoxicated, Jackson allowed her to continue her interrupted trip but with a severe warning to keep on her side of the road for the rest of the journey.

Dismiss Third Count Against Jail Prisoner

Petty theft charges against Charles Luster, Los Angeles salesman, were dismissed in justice court yesterday when it was shown that Luster had been convicted in both Anaheim and Fullerton on similar counts and was serving sentences in the county jail.

Luster was charged with defrauding the Santa Ana Mills of $12.55 by leaving a worthless watch as security for feed. Luster and Richard Maltbie, his alleged partner in several similar affairs throughout Southern California, were arrested near San Bernardino several weeks ago. Maltbie was rearrested when he came to visit Luster at the jail but has not returned since paying bail.

Conscience Eased By $5 Bill

The county general fund was $5 richer today after this amount had been deposited for the benefit of county taxpayers.

In a letter with no return address, but which was postmarked from Portland, Oregon, a conscience-stricken witness who testified in Orange county court some years ago returned the $5 bill to County Auditor W. T. Lambert.

"Some years ago," the letter said, "while in Southern California, I received $5 for witness service performed. Since then it has occurred to me that I rightfully should not have accepted this."

Hoot Gibson In Film Of Secret Service Story

Coming to the screen of Walker's State theater in an action epic that tops even the thrills of his previous pictures, Hoot Gibson, ace western star, will be seen in "The Dude Bandit," which comes to the local playhouse tonight and tomorrow.

"The Dude Bandit" is a fast-moving story of the efforts of secret service agents to recover the loot from a half-million dollar mail robbery and bring the crooks to justice. Following a trail that leads from a western penitentiary and over railroad lines, the investigators locate their men at last among the members of a gang of cattle rustlers which is terrorizing the cattle range.

In Gibson's supporting cast are such well known players as pretty Gloria Shea, Skeeter Bill Robinson, Lafe McKee and others.

RIVERSIDE TIRES

have LATEX WELDED CORDS
(100% PURE LIQUID RUBBER)

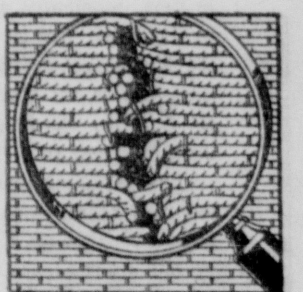

which prevent Cord Separation . . the cause of blowouts

Do you know this? An average size tire goes round 395 times every minute at only 35 miles an hour! Think what happens when you drive at this speed—or faster! Friction develops scorching heat inside your tires! In many tires other than Riversides this heat separates cords! It weakens the tire, forms internal blisters! When you hit a rock or a bump . . . BANG! A blowout!

You need the added protection Riversides give you! Riversides' Cords—the heart of the tire—are made from extra strong, long staple, premium cotton. Every cord in every ply is dipped in LATEX—100% pure, liquid, virgin rubber. This welds the cords into a super strong unit! It gives Riversides the strongest tire carcass made! It prevents cord separation . . . the cause of blowouts!

Why We Save You Money

Of course Riversides are made in one of America's largest and best tire factories. BUT—they come direct to us—minus the manufacturer's selling and general overhead expense. That's a saving. The second saving comes from Wards low cost method of distribution. These two reasons explain why we sell high quality tires for less. It's simple to figure out for yourself why Riversides are better in quality, mileage, and safety than any other tire at the same price.

Cord Separation

This shows how cords inside tires other than Riversides are separated by heat. Cord separation causes internal blisters, weakens the tire. A blowout is the result! Riversides are Blowout Proof because of Latex dipping!

Latex Dipping

By an extra process, every cord in every ply in all Riverside tires is dipped in Latex. This welds the cords into a super strong unit that defies cord separation and blowouts!

*RIVERSIDE TIRES

will not blow out under normal road conditions during the life of the tread if they are kept properly inflated in accordance with the specified air pressures.

Wards Unlimited Guarantee

For your protection every single Riverside tire is guaranteed by Wards to give service that is satisfactory to you. No time limit! No mileage limit! A tire has to be extra good—has to be extra safe to be backed by the strongest tire guarantee ever written!

Five-eighths of an acre of land and three to six months' work in a shop is Chicago's suggestion for attacking the distressing dilemma of the machine age

By Elizabeth Walker

GIVE a man three to six months' work, set him out on a nearby plot of land that he can cultivate for his family's food—and you have the latest solution to the persistent problem of unemployment.

This is no dreamer's vision, no mere theory. A group of hard-headed Chicago business leaders, economists and welfare workers is back of the idea. The participants have gone beyond the first stages in this plan, have compiled figures, drawn up blueprints and even had models built to show how the country could be brought closer to the city.

The main purpose of this group's scheme is to bring relief to the unemployed of Chicago and its vicinity—a Chicago whose monthly charity bill approximates $7,000,000, the same as that of New York which is twice as large.

But other localities have been confronted with similar ideas. Dayton, Ohio, has already started on a plan whereby city workers may be gathered into small rural communities, where they may combine part-time jobs in the city with agricultural home life. Fifty homestead developments may result from this idea, all within a radius of 15 miles from Dayton.

On each homestead of 160 acres would be between 35 and 50 families, each with three acres of land, its own home and supplies. One of these homestead units already has been organized seven miles west of the city.

THE Chicago idea would make one vast rural community of Cook County, practically encircling the industrial center. Five-eighths of an acre of land would be allotted to each worker. On that plot, the Chicago sponsors estimate, the worker could have his modest home and enough land to raise 80 per cent of all the food his family could consume all year.

Since half of a worker's dollar is supposed to go for food, economists figure the cash wages he earns during three to six months' employment a year should enable him to meet his other expenses, including the low payments on his garden home.

Thus, a man now dependent upon the state for support of his family may hope not only to regain his financial freedom, but eventually to become the owner of a home within easy commuting distance of America's second city.

There are available some 255,000 acres of land within 25 miles of Chicago's Loop, admirably adapted for this garden home plan.

What is more, charming four-room houses with every modern convenience may be built today at a total cost, including land, water, sidewalks and electricity, not to exceed $2500.

In addition, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation may release millions of dollars in loans for just such low-cost housing projects. But it limits its loans to states with housing laws, providing adequate supervision for such types of building. Therein lies an obstacle.

Illinois had no laws qualifying its residents for one of the RFC's loans. Without such fiscal first-aid, Chicago's novel suburbanization scheme could not be financed.

To remedy this defect, a series of bills sponsored by the Illinois Housing Association were placed before the legislature at Springfield. They provided, among other things, for the appointment of a non-political state housing board which must approve the technical and financial plans of private building corporations before they are eligible for government loans.

Not the least significant feature of these measures is that the housing corporations must sell all properties acquired and improved with RFC funds within twenty-four years for not more than $3500. Moreover, their stockholders are limited to a 6½ per cent return on their investment.

THE five-eighths acre lots planned by the Chicago group would be 75 by 385 feet in area. The houses designed for them are modernized Cape Cod cottages, with white walls of fire-resisting cement and cinder blocks. The roofs are of gray-green fabricated shingles and the shutters match these in color.

To avoid high taxes, the usual penalties for elaborate municipal water and sewage systems, each home is to have its own well with automatic pump and its own septic tank.

In addition, every household will include an individual chicken yard and garbage disposal plant—or pig pen. Not only are the porcine residents expected to dispose of the family refuse but, transformed into pork chops and breakfast bacon, they could help slash the butcher's bill.

While each of these model homes will front on its own neatly clipped square of grassy lawn and flowering shrubs, it will back on what is believed to be the answer to a part-time worker's prayer—a vegetable garden that will give him four-fifths of his daily food.

Before the plans for this garden were transferred to blueprints, however, home economists were employed to figure out exactly what green-stuffs found their way into the vegetable treasuries of the average working-man's family, and in what quantities.

THEIR findings, in terms of heads of lettuce, bunches of radishes and pounds of potatoes, were then turned over to garden experts. With them, also went instructions to determine how much seed should be planted to obtain the necessary amount of each vegetable, and in what order they should be planted.

As a result, figures are available showing what and how much to plant, the size of the yield, consumption by a family of six, surplus for canning and storage, etc.

Here, then, is a manifold blessing. Large numbers of part-time or jobless workers will be evacuated from stuffy tenements and established in their own homes in the open air. Their families will no longer face starvation, even when the head has no employment.

Charity institutions will be relieved of a great financial burden. And finally, the greatest problem of all—unemployment—will be solved by the shifting of workers from six-day to three-day weeks, or from all-year to half-year schedules.

But this is no emergency relief measure, the sponsors are quick to assert. It will take years to bring the scheme to an adequate realization. Chicago's economic recovery will be slow.

Chicago, however, is encouraged in this enterprise by what was done by the RFC for a New York corporation, in an effort to rebuild a particularly overpopulated section of the slums.

The loan is now being used to replace with modern apartments what formerly was one of the worst blocks in New York's East Side—the "Lung Block," so-called because of the high tuberculosis rate among its inhabitants.

THE movement to enact new housing bills in order to benefit from RFC aid has become almost national. Besides Illinois, several states are considering legislation that would conform with the demands of the RFC. About a dozen states have already passed such laws.

Next to New York, Ohio has thus far made the greatest strides toward providing better and cheaper homes for its residents. The Dayton plan is believed to be a model for other industrial centers.

Not to be overlooked in this movement is the idea Henry Ford has had back of his head for many years. Although he has so far expressed himself rather vaguely on this subject, he has revealed enough of his plans to make it seem the very Utopia of such rural-industrial combinations.

In short, Ford would establish the various units of an industry in compact centers about each of which he would scatter the rural communities where the workers would live, raise their own foodstuffs and enjoy the freedom that millions in the large cities now lack.

LARGE numbers of idle workers have milled through the streets of Detroit in search of work. Most of them have come from the country—transients in search of what they believed was an easier life, a faster way to comfort and pleasure than cultivation of the soil.

The automobile industry, and Detroit generally, has been good to these strangers, giving them work when there was work, feeding them when they went idle.

But this can't go on forever. Under the New Deal and application of the Chicago plan, Detroit could well take care of all its residents, native and transient.

And so could other over-populated districts. All these schemes may sound unadaptable to the present mode of living in industrial centers. But the Chicago plan sponsors, and sociologists generally, declare factory whistles will no longer blow as much for full-time workers as they will to summon men and women to part-time jobs and shorter working days.

To balance their budgets, to make up for their diminished time in industry, the employees will have to fall back on their own resources. That's where the rural homestead or individual garden plot comes in.

CITIZENS MAKE PROTEST ON PROPOSED SCHOOL TAX BOOST

PLACENTIA, Aug. 25.—A long and stormy session greeted the board of education of Placentia Union School district last night, when taxpayers assembled to thresh out the matter of the education of high school students the coming year.

Representatives from the Richmond and the Yorba districts insisted the people who had sponsored withdrawal of the Placentia Union Grammar school district from the Fullerton Union High school district, which was accomplished at an election July 31, had told emphatically there would be no raise in tax rate, nor added cost to the taxpayers.

The school board members in whose lap the building of high school plants, and the education of the Placentia district students have been tossed, declare that the 30-cent tax rate, the total of the units of the Fullerton Union High school district, will not be adequate to care for the building of a plant, and members said they contemplate a rate of not less than 40 cents, while other suggestions are that a rate of 70 will have to be set.

LeRoy Lyon, president of the board, insisted that the first consideration with him is the protection of the grammar school people and a satisfactory and protected education for the high school people of the district, and asked the group protesting a raise in tax rate if they will be satisfied to "farm out" Placentia students until the high school is built.

Lyon said that there is no possibility of building a plant on the 30-cent tax rate, and that the rate will have to be raised, and bonds voted to provide adequate accommodations. He suggested, further, that the school board had not been a party to promises made to build a plant and educate high school students without a raise in rate.

No settlement was made, and suggestions were that a mass meeting will be held soon to thresh out the problem. In the meantime, negotiations will be made with Fullerton and Brea high school for the "farming out" of students.

Following at 11 p. m., the breaking up of the taxpayers' meeting, the board, meeting on grammar school problems, settled teachers' salaries that were in question.

FULLERTON, Aug. 25.—Mrs. Alice Brown, assisted by her daughters, Mrs. J. B. Horner, and Miss Marjorie Brown, entertained Thursday afternoon at a beautiful and informal tea for her other daughter, Mrs. E. A. Frojen, of Hamburg, Germany, who is visiting for two months in Fullerton. She is residing on Princeton avenue here.

Accompanying her on her visit are her three children, Marie, Alan and Bobby. Mr. Frojen represents a Chicago company in Germany.

Mrs. Horner, Miss Brown and Mrs. Brown, with Mrs. Frojen, received the guests at the door. Mrs. George Cochran, a sister of the hostess, and Mrs. Olga Wallace, served at the beautiful refreshment table, that was lace covered and centered by an enormous basket of flowers.

Mrs. Horner and Miss Brown presented a short musical program during the afternoon, with Mrs. Myrtle Irwin accompanying at the piano. They presented duets and solo numbers.

CO-OPERATION DECLARED NEEDED IN NRA DRIVE

FULLERTON, Aug. 25.—Common sense is in the saddle at Washington, D. C., and if the people of the United States will co-operate, the NRA program will succeed, Harry May, secretary of Fullerton Chamber of Commerce, said last night at the Fullerton Unemployed Workers' Legion membership meeting.

May, who is assisting with the NRA lineup in Fullerton, said that although we look with askance at the amount of money the government is spending at trying to start projects, it is a small amount compared to the loss of money taken by the laborer out of work, which averages about $40,000,000 a year. The 3 1/2 billion expended at the beginning is but a small amount, comparatively, he said, considering the normal earning power of the people out of work is $80,000,000,000.

The work with the retail merchant is being carried on as a start because he is easy to contact, he said.

"This is a big venture," May declared. "The administration recognizes that the consumer pays the bill, but judges that with increased sales through merchants, industrial wheels will start, and the consumer will have money with which to make purchases."

"There is no place for the theorist. Roosevelt has assisted him men from the college world who are taking significant facts and are putting them together to find a way out. These men will not ask of the retail merchant that he continue indefinitely to run at a loss. They are asking that the consumers trade with men who are co-operating with the government, and employing more men, and are taking the risk to try to bring about recovery."

The speaker said 200 workers will be in the field of Fullerton

Monday to canvass every household, asking him to co-operate. Just what teeth are in the law for the person who signs to employ more men, and to abide by codes, and who fails to try, is an unknown quantity, yet, according to May, who said he saw one place where difficulty might result. These men signed statements, and used the United States mails to forward their agreements to headquarters. There may be a possibility of having a comeback to those who are not complying, but who signed up, by showing they used the mails to defraud, he said.

Taking as a basis some of the results of NRA in Fullerton, May cited the case of one shop, where the two owners had been making a rather meager living, by doing all the work themselves. These men, he said, are taking their risk by working eight hours each, and employing others to work the other part of the day. Such, according to the speaker, is the observance of the spirit of the law.

N. W. Nicholson, president of the association, presided at the session.

STARS IN 'EXPERIMENTAL' GAME Wetherell, Creamer In Semi-Finals

YOUNGSTERS TO BATTLE IN S. A. COURT FEATURE

With Santa Ana's own Lewis Wetherell, in one bracket, the second annual Santa Ana Open tennis tournament enters its crucial stages tomorrow, semi-final matches in men's singles being scheduled at 1 and 3 p. m.

The first big gallery of the week is expected at the Frances Willard courts by Tennis club officials, the tournament being open to the general public without charge.

Wetherell goes on against either Dave Gillam or Carl Bartlett at 1 o'clock, the latter two hooking up today in a quarter-final engagement.

Jack Creamer of Pasadena, seeded No. 1 and the tournament favorite, takes the courts at 3 o'clock. He will oppose either Al Zerbe of Long Beach or "Hoots" Chilson of Anaheim in the semi-final. Zerbe and Chilson were to meet this afternoon.

Wetherell and Creamer, both 17-year-old juniors, came through severe tests impressively yesterday. John Altman, husky captain of the Pomona college tennis force, gave Wetherell a vigorous workout but the Santa Ana youngster managed to beat him in straight sets, 7-5, 7-5. Creamer had less difficulty eliminating another Pomonaan, Art Flum, 6-0, 6-2, although many of the rallies were prolonged. Creamer's powerful backhand strokes continued to stamp the Pasadena as a sterling prospect for Southern California tennis.

Play followed form in almost every instance during Thursday's rather brief schedule. Gillam, another Pasadena entrant, won from R. Bradley in love sets in the lone junior boys' singles and Mrs. Mildred Ward of Santa Ana easily vanquished Dorothy Cook of Claremont, 6-0, 6-1. The longest set thus far played in the tournament was established in a mixed doubles battle between Gil and Mildred Ward and the Long Beach duo, Peggy Kerr and Verne Hughes. Miss Kerr and Hughes finally won, 15-13, 7-5.

The summary:

Men's singles—Jack Creamer defeated Art Flum, 6-0, 6-2; Lewis Wetherell d. John Altman, 7-5, 7-5. Men's doubles—Parks and Bartlett d. Bradley and Flum, 6-0, 6-1. Women's singles—Mildred Ward d. D. Cook, 6-0, 6-1. Mixed doubles—Kerr and Hughes d. Ward and Flum, 15-13, 7-5.

NIGHT LEAGUE TITLE PLAYOFF BEGINS SEPT. 1

The National Night Ball league's annual classic, the playoff series between first and second-half champions, will begin Friday, September 1.

Huntington Beach will be the scene of the inaugural—if Huntington Beach wins one of its two remaining league games and thereby clinches beyond all mathematical doubt the second-half pennant.

Dates and places for the series were set at a conference at Costa Mesa last night, attended by President George Peterkin, and representatives of the Torrance and Huntington Beach clubs. Torrance won the first-half, and will definitely figure in the playoffs whether or not Huntington Beach is tripped between now and next Tuesday.

The series schedule:

Friday, Sept. 1—at Huntington Beach.

Tuesday, Sept. 5—at Torrance.

Friday, Sept. 8—at Huntington Beach.

Monday, Sept. 11—at Torrance.

Wednesday, Sept. 13—at Huntington Beach.

Friday, Sept. 15—at Torrance.

Tuesday, Sept. 19—at a place to be decided up a flip of a coin.

PLAN PLAYGROUNDS SPORTS EXHIBITION

Parents and friends of children who have been attending Santa Ana's summer playgrounds have been invited to the closing program of sports events to be given in the Municipal Bowl next Thursday night, Major A. F. Moulton, supervisor of the playgrounds, announced today.

One of the features of the evening will be a baseball game between two playground teams for the summer championship. The regular schedule will wind up next week before the final celebration, paving the way for the playoff.

Two wrestling bouts will be carded with Joe Mays as referee. Charles Valentine and A. Ayres will hook up in a 140-pound event while Frank Dow and L. Cox will meet in the 140-pound division. Mays also will referee a boxing bout between Johnnie Martinez and "Baby" Arizmenda at 125 pounds.

Franklin and Spurgeon playgrounds will settle the city speedball championship with a game refereed by R. R. Russick, physical education instructor. The program will be completed with bicycle races between entrants from all the playgrounds.

BASKETBALL TEAMS MEET AT 'Y' TUESDAY

Plans for basketball are to be discussed at a meeting next Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at the Y. M. C. A. to which all teams are invited to send representatives.

General Secretary Ralph Smedley states that time is being reserved in the gymnasium schedule to provide for two nights a week of basketball, provided there are teams enough to use that time. Last year the Y. M. C. A. promoted both a church league and a commercial league. It is expected that both of these leagues will be in the field again, and leaders are planning to start practice at an early date so as to be ready for play when the regular schedule is drawn.

connected with a chain of sporting goods stores.

Carruthers admitted that Vines' discussion had given rise to public discussion "which has not added to the luster of the sport," but said they did not constitute a violation of the amateur rule.

CAREY TO STAY AT BROOKLYN

Max Sells Directors on Idea of Young Ball Club

MAJOR SHAKEUP IN PROSPECT

BY JACK CAREY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(UP)—Managers of second division clubs in both major leagues scurried about today searching for "five-year" plans or other impressive baseball policies that might hold their jobs, after learning that Max ("Stallin") Carey had been signed to another one of the most disappointing clubs in Flatbush history. But his five-year plan apparently prevented it.

Maximilian Carnarius, as he was baptized, is one of the most charming fellows in baseball, and a good salesman. The divinity student who made good in the big leagues as a base stealer sold the Brooklyn directors on the idea of building up a team of young players, each of which was to be good for at least five years when he joined the Dodgers. This was exactly opposite to the old Brooklyn policy under "Uncle" Wilbert Robinson of grabbing any player who might have a good season left in him.

Although the 1933 Dodgers, who in pre-season estimates were rated one of the most promising outfits in the National league, are now struggling with Cincinnati for last place, the directors felt Carey's policies have not had time to work out. So he was re-hired.

Some of the caustic Flatbush fans, however, feared that if two years of Careyism put the club in seventh place, another year might drop it into the American association.

In justice to Carey, however, it must be said that he probably had more hard luck this season than any other contemporary big league manager. With the exception of Van Mungo, his pitching staff was a bust, and the slump of such sluggers as "Lefty" O'Doul, before his trade to the Giants and "Hack" Wilson were severe blows. On his spring squad, Johnny Frederick is the only one hitting over .300, although Sam Leslie, who came from the Giants during the season, is batting about .302.

Carey intends adding at least 10 young players to the Dodgers next season, he told the United Press last night. They will include Leinus Frey, brilliant shortstop of Nashville, Southern league; Dick Delmas of Richmond, Va., and Len Koenekne of Buffalo.

Simultaneous with Carey's re-engagement, "Dutch" Carter, the man who was responsible for his being appointed manager in 1931, resigned as director of the Brooklyn club. Whether there was any connection club officials refused to say.

Carter, former Yale baseball player, was appointed fifth director of the Brooklyn club three years ago by President John Heydler of the National league to create a balance of power in dead-end. It is understood the four directors now see matters in the same light and no longer need a fifth man.

EASTERN GRID TEAM DEFEATS COAST, 13 TO 7

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—(UP)—Far Western football, for two successive years producer of the National gridiron champion, today was back on an equality with all other sections.

The East, composed of players from the Midwest and South, conquered the Far West in one of the greatest all-star games ever played before 60,000 persons in Soldier field, 13-7.

Harry Newman, Michigan's All-American quarterback; Gene Ronzani, an unheralded halfback from Marquette, and Roy Horstmann, Purdue fullback, were the East's stars last night.

Stan Williamson, Southern California's All-American center of two years ago, was the brightest star in the West's lineup, with Hank Schudach, California, and Galus Shaver, Southern California, as the minor satellites.

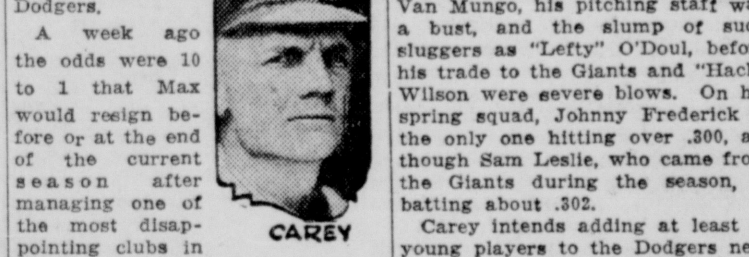

Williamson West's Star

The East outplayed the West in every department except center, where Williamson were down both Lawrence Ely of Nebraska and Orin Crow of Haskell.

Southern California's All-American tackle, Tay Brown and Ernie Smith, who will play professional football with the New York Giants this fall, staged two thrilling punt-runs—one of 40 yards and another of 35, the last man in his path stopping him each time.

With the ball on the West's 34-yard line after Jim Purvis of Purdue had intercepted a pass, the East made its winning stroke. Newman dashed off tackle for 11 yards and then threw a 5-yard pass to Ronzani. He ran to the 10-yard line, where two big Westerners had him boxed along the sidelines. Ronzani proceeded to steam-roll both of the red-shirted Westerners, and ran over the line standing up.

The East, coached by Dick Hanley of Northwestern, gained 139 yards to the West's 126, and scored 9 first downs to the West's 3. The East attempted 23 passes, completed 10 for 83 yards as against 15 attempted by the West with two completed for 20 yards.

INGRAM SAYS BEARS WILL BE DANGEROUS

BERKELEY, Aug. 25.—(INS)—"The most dangerous team on the coast."

Sketching his attacking plans for California's football season today, Coach Bill Ingram summed it all up with that one sweeping generality.

"We may not win all of our games—our schedule is probably too tough for that," Ingram said, "but we'll play the kind of football that will keep 'em guessing—our opponents and the fans too."

Ingram stressed the Bears will be, for the first time in years, an essentially attacking team this year.

"Against Santa Clara in the first game, you'll see a California team unlike any other," California team of recent years," Ingram said. "Even though we have only seven days in which to get ready for Santa Clara, we will have more football ready for use than they have ever had for an opening game. And the quarterbacks will be free to call for it."

"I plan to give these boys more football attack and defense—than I've given any team I've ever coached. They're ready for it, mentally and physically. I'm convinced they'll be the most dangerous, most interesting team in this section, at least."

SEATTLE BALL CLUB TO HAVE NEW PARK

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 25.—(INS)—A home of their own for the Seattle Indians of the Pacific Coast League seemed assured today, with announcement from Councilman Ralph Nichols, finance chairman, that a public works loan had been worked out to replace the Rainier valley ball park, destroyed by fire.

Under terms of the deal, Nichols said, the city gets title to the half the cash and the city borrows the remainder from the welfare board.

The ball club should be able to play in the park by next season if the city council acts favorably on the deal.

The East, coached by Dick Hanley of Northwestern, gained 139 yards to the West's 126, and scored 9 first downs to the West's 3. The East attempted 23 passes, completed 10 for 83 yards as against 15 attempted by the West with two completed for 20 yards.

WESTERN OPEN GOLF TOURNEY UNDER WAY

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—(U)—The 33rd annual Western Open golf championships opened today at Olympia Fields Country club, scene of the 1928 National open championship.

Eighteen holes were to be played, with another 18 tomorrow. The 60 low scorers and ties qualifying for the final 36 holes Sunday.

Many of the leading professionals, including Tommy Armour, Harry Cooper, Ed Dudley, Leo Diegel, Johnny Revolta, Macdonald Smith, Horton Smith, Abe Espinosa, Jack Hutchinson and Al Watrous, are entered. Prominent amateurs are Johnny Fischer, "Chick" Evans and Johnny Lehman.

LEE, BRITISH STAR, ENTERS L. A. TENNIS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 25.—(INS)—Definite assurance that Harold Lee, 1933 English Davis Cup star, would be on hand for the seventh annual Pacific Southwest tennis tournament, which is to be held at the Los Angeles Tennis club from Friday, Sept. 15, through Sunday, Sept. 24, was received today in a wire from British tennis officials to Perry T. Jones, tournament manager.

The wire stated Lee would continue on to California after the Nationals along with Fred Perry, hero of Great Britain's Davis Cup win, Frank H. D. Wilde, and Edward Avey.

BASELINES AND PITCHER'S BOX TO BE EXTENDED

A game that may revolutionize the popular sport of night baseball will be played within the Municipal Bowl here tonight.

Santa Ana's Stars and Santa Ana's Green Cats, city representatives in the National and Orange County leagues, are to meet in an experimental contest. Baselines, now 45 feet, will be extended ten feet. The pitcher's box will be moved back three feet, making 35 feet instead of 35 that that ball must travel before reaching the batters.

Boosters of the "new game" think this arrangement will combine the best features of night-ball and the standard brand; that it will encourage longer hitting and put a premium on fast and clever fielding. Serious objection has been raised in some quarters to the current "bunt" and "bounce-hit" craze which many fear eventually will spoil nightball unless counter-action is taken soon.

Officials of the two Santa Ana clubs make it plain that they are not necessarily sponsoring the 55-foot baseline idea. They merely desire to give the thing a trial—to determine whether it is at all feasible, and also whether the fans like it. A "bye" in their schedules makes it possible to arrange the unique contest tonight, the Stars winning by default their regularly programmed game with Fullerton.

Both teams promise to employ their strongest lineups. The Stars propose to work their three pitchers a stretch of three innings apiece to see how they react to the "new deal." Joe Cornelius will start, with Wilson Seacord and Wilbur Stinchfield following in that order. Manager "Eeny" Wilcox indicated, Joe Harless, leader of the "Cats," indicated he would use Lyle Morse, with Mearl Youel finishing.

Huntington Beach, the National league's leading team, hopes to definitely clinch the second-half championship at home tonight. The Oilers face a real task because Whittier is playing inspired ball behind the splendid pitching of Paul Watson, but Manager Joe Rodgers is confident that "Chico" Sabala will be able to sew up the flag.

Anahiem, which is still a mathematical contender, also has a real assignment on it hands. Westminster invades the Valencia's park with an ambition to cut down last year's Southern California champions just as it humbled Huntington Beach Tuesday. With "Fuzzy" Errington in fine condition again, Westminster is about an even bet to do it.

Oliver goes to Torrance, winding up its season there.

The standings:

NATIONAL NIGHT LEAGUE	W.	L.	Pct.
Huntington Beach	10	2	.833
Anahiem	8	4	.667
Whittier	8	4	.667
Westminster	7	5	.583
Santa Ana	5	7	.417
Oliver	4	8	.333
Torrance	4	8	.333
Fullerton	2	10	.167

Captures 13 Reptiles In Week's Time

SAN CLEMENTE, Aug. 25.—T. L. Douffet, of Orange, having set up a tent at the state park, where he and his wife are living for a period of two weeks, is fast ridding the hills and canyons about San Clemente of dangerous reptiles.

In a week's time he has found 13 rattlers, the largest one with 11 rattles. He also has caught a five-foot blue racer and two king coral snakes. The latter are quite tame and trained as pets will take the place of a cat in keeping the home premises free from rats and mice. Douffet stated while harmless if treated kindly, they have a wicked bite and will defend themselves if hurt, he says. If placed in a box with the rattlers the latter would soon be killed, according to Douffet.

For capturing rattlers he uses a forked stick and a snare with a wide band fitting closely around the neck so they can be handled safely. The non-venomous types he catches with his bare hands. The rattlers are contracted to the zoos throughout the country. Zoos in Los Angeles and St. Louis will get some of the present catch. The king coral he expects to sell for about $35 each.

LAGUNA BEACH PREPARES FOR NRA CAMPAIGN

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 25.—Mayor Frank B. Champion and his aides, appointed by George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, to take charge of the NRA work in this city, are planning a spectacular drive, following the Festival of Arts, to make Laguna Beach 100 per cent behind the President's plan. Just what form this will take, Mayor Champion was not prepared to say, but he gave assurance that the people of Laguna Beach and those visiting the city will know the drive is on.

"We will not be content until every householder has signed the pledge and pasted up a consumer's blue eagle," said the mayor. "We have not heard of anybody opposed to the plan."

The committee will meet next week to name the district lieutenants. Postmaster Brayton S. Norton announced today that 124 business houses have signed the pledge cards. Many have not signed because a speaker from out of town stated that those who do not employ at least three persons are not entitled to use the sign. Mayor Champion's committee has a list of 11 business licenses and a complete canvass will be made to get every one into line.

The event, which will be partly a rough-water swim, will include three races, one open race for which three cash prizes are offered, one amateur race for men, and an amateur race for girls. Gold, silver and bronze medals will be given in the amateur events.

The starting time was made 3 o'clock so that the swimmers will be going with the tide in the entrance channel and the bay. The course will be the same as last year, starting at the beach just west of the Balboa ocean pier, around the outer end of the pier and eastward to the harbor entrance, thence through the channel and westward in the bay to a point opposite Main street in Balboa.

Contestants must decide in which division they wish to compete, and different entry blanks must be signed by those competing in the open and amateur divisions, although they will all start at the same time. All contestants must be accompanied by a boat or dory, in which will be a competent swimmer, who can assist in case of possible danger or accident.

Mrs. Bud Klenhall complained that a fancy radiator cap had been stolen from their car and a hat taken from inside the car as it stood parked near the Rendezvous ball room.

W. W. Brown, of Glendale, who is at present located on Ruby avenue, Balboa island, reported that a woman's woolen suit and a bathing suit, the two valued at $10, had been stolen from his car.

$16,032 LEVY NECESSARY IN TAX DISTRICTS

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 25.—With tax delinquencies approximately 33 per cent, Mattoon act troubles were piled up on the other property owners in the several acquisition and improvement districts in Laguna Beach, it was revealed at the meeting of the city council Wednesday night.

While some of the zones showed that all taxes had been paid, others reached startling figures. On the Broadway paving project, 74.77 per cent of the taxes were unpaid in Zone C. Through the provision of the law compelling the piling of the taxes on the rest of the property, the rate will be approximately $50 on each $100 of assessed valuation and the auditor was authorized to make a levy that will bring in a total of $61,032.40. In District No. 3, the Sleepy Hollow Lane improvement, the tax will be about $35 per $100 valuation. Residents of the district recently appealed to the board of supervisors for relief, but were told that because the lane was not a connecting link with a regular through highway, nothing could be done under the law.

An ordinance fixing the tax rate at $1.07 for the general and fire bond funds was passed on final reading. A special meeting was called for August 30 at 7 p. m. for the purpose of adopting the budget for 1933-34.

A request for a footpath across Bluebird canyon at Santa Cruz street was referred to Street Superintendent Floyd W. Case.

A communication from S. V. Cortes, highway division engineer, regarding earthquake damage, showed there is a balance in the amount from the state fund allotted to Laguna Beach. He explained that it will be necessary for the council to order highway work done and paid for in order to receive the money due.

Councilman M. B. McMillan, police commissioner, was authorized to purchase an automobile for the night patrolman, he council also has under consideration the purchase of a new car for Police Chief Abe W. Johnson.

Perry E. McCullough and A. B. Marshall were awarded the contract for supplying insurance for all city cars on their low bid of $457.33. The Laguna Beach Land company's bid was $461.56. Because of the withdrawal of Emerald bay from the street lighting district, authorized recently by the board of supervisors, it was necessary for the city council to increase the light rate from $1 to $4 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. The cost of maintenance will not be increased.

SEA TRADE

Four years of depression have given American exporters and importers a terrific tossing around. It is to be hoped this period of duress has hardened them. The bumps of the past will seem like caresses compared to what the Blue Eagle has in store for their businesses.

Government economists are not talking about this impending problem but of the record they concede it has come over the horizon very definitely.

Our highly nationalistic system

What NRA Has Done for Southern California

Here is the first actual surveyed proof of NRA results. Not content with second-hand reports, the Los Angeles Times has gone out into the field, interviewed countless employers all over the Southland, tabulated increased employment and wages, asked for and obtained frank, unbiased opinions on this revolutionary government experiment.

It's presented exclusively in

WHAT CHANCE THE COUGARS?

Will they waltz U.S.C.? They did it in 1930. They lost but one game last year. They are stronger this year—and like their nickname, Washington State's behemoths of the gridiron are snarling defiance to Southern California football dominance. Will they succeed? Braven Dyer who knows more about football than a dozen coaches, gives you the real, pre-season dope.

Our Navy Steams Ahead!

In the United States making a bid for naval supremacy? What's behind the great shipbuilding program? Will Los Angeles Harbor become most powerful naval base in the world? Waldo Drake, naval authority of The Times, tells you in an article that accompanies a spectacular four-page rotogravure pictorial supplement of the United States Navy fleet action.

"No Savvy" is the catchword—silence the honorary badge—and a muzzled uniform. of recovery was designed solely to boost wages and prices within American borders. Scant consideration was given to international trade. As a result our exporters and importers are about to suffer plenty.

Trade both ways with our world neighbors today is little more than a quarter of what it was in 1928. As the NRA codes begin to operate domestic production costs will go up so high American goods cannot compete with foreign imports unless protected by a much higher tariff.

And when Uncle Sam slaps more tariff on imports it will only be human nature for other nations to retaliate in kind against our goods. They will do it of course where it will hurt most—striking a vital blow at American exports.

This is the situation confronting our Recoverites as they struggle to put more money in their pay envelopes. It isn't something that sneaked up and caught them unaware. President Roosevelt and his Brain Trust merely had to choose between the lesser of two evils and naturally elected not to let the great American working masses suffer if they could help it.

A big shipping man was complaining bitterly to General Hugh Johnson the other day about the hardships the code was imposing on his business.

"Why, hell, man," replied Johnson, "the export business is going to die temporarily. We aim to shoot wages up so high our goods couldn't possibly compete with foreign goods."

TARIFFS
It would be quite unfair to leave the impression the Administration is attempting to do nothing about the problem. The Industrial Recovery Act itself empowers the President to protect American products from foreign competition through tariff regulation—but that unfortunately one-sided and leads to retaliation.

F. O. Billings, assistant director of valuations for the Tariff Commission, has been designated liaison officer between NRA and the Commission. It will be Billings' job for the next few months to receive and review the complaints of those who find flying with the Blue Eagle is a little too rich for their blood without further government protection.

In addition the Administration has quietly started a long-range planning program for industry. All economists agree this was needed long ago.

BARTER
At the State Department our diplomats are negotiating valiantly to open up new South American markets. Trade treaties are being sought with Argentina, Brazil and Colombia.

Colombian envoys, now being entertained, should be easy to win over. So should those from Brazil. In both cases Uncle Sam makes the major concessions because those countries sell us far more than they buy.

With the Argentine there may be more difficult going. Both the United States and the Argentine produce and export many of the same commodities. We shall have to ask for tariff concessions here as well as give them.

In the meantime Great Britain is far from sitting idle while we go after good will and expanded trade in South America. John Bull is sitting in the game and holding quite a hand.

Certain American commodities

must be produced for export. Cotton is a good example.

One very astute government economist foresees a possible expansion of American branch factories abroad as a result of the impending situation. If a textile manufacturer finds local costs make it impossible for him to produce for export he may well be expected to set up a branch in some country where labor costs are lower.

Henry Ford met the automobile problem this way.

DUMPS

Over in London an American delegation has been attempting to get a world agreement controlling wheat production and exporting.

A threat has been heard quite frequently of late that the United States will start dumping its wheat on world markets unless there is an acreage reduction agreement among producers, with consuming nations meanwhile granting tariff concessions under certain conditions.

It takes two parties to make dumping possible. Many federal experts are wondering where we could find a willing "dumpee" to make good such a threat.

An interesting question has been raised in this connection by one gentleman who observes things from the government payroll. He asks what the United States would do if cotton-producing countries came to us with a similar proposition.

SAVED

The man in Lower Ten sticks his head out to inquire why there should have been any furor the other day when four policemen were dispatched to General Johnson's office on receipt of word a "red" delegation was enroute there to call.

"The police were merely on hand to protect the Communists from the General," he explains.

NOTES

Because of the many new emergency organizations now operating in Washington, the government printing office is breaking all precedents and putting out a special mid-summer supplement to the Congressional Directory.

Harried business men have been running around in circles for a month trying to find out who was who and where. The census of New Dealers is nearly completed. Housing of these new outfits is getting to be quite a problem too. Secretary of Interior Ickes, looking for office space for his public works setup, tossed the Tennessee valley authority and the civilian conservation corps out of his department on five days' notice. Public works has 845 employees here at the moment and is rising like a thermometer in Washington.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin
STRATEGY

Local Republican circles are beginning to perk up and take an interest in life once more.

The strong undercurrent of opposition to NRA developing in certain industrial quarters has given them their cue. Not that you will see or hear much evidence of it for a while. They know it would get them nothing but razberries to try to create an issue now. But backstage workers are busy as a hiveful of bees mapping their campaign.

A recent private conference of bigwigs decided on two points of strategy.

1. "Don't shoot until you see the whites of their eyes." That means keeping the zealous in check until the 1934 elections become a live topic.

2. Wait for the walls of discontented Democrats. The Republicans anticipate many of these when congress meets again if for no other reason than the thinness of patronage gravy. Then the idea will be to quote Democratic criticism as ammunition against the Democratic regime.

Those 1934 elections will mean a lot more than a mere matter of political power for the donkey or the elephant. The continuation of NIRA principles will depend on the congress chosen then. The fight will center on 100 seats in the house which represent the balance of power. Most of them are in industrial districts. The Republicans already have unofficial pledges of the necessary sinews of war for campaigns in key territories.

You can expect Ogden Mills to make the front pages again when the open skirmishing begins. He originally wanted to start the shooting this summer but other party leaders sold him the idea of holding fire. The one speech he made in the mid-west was entirely rewritten within two days of delivery to fit the new tactics.

OIL

You are likely to hear a tremendous yell about state's rights from the oil fields of Texas and Oklahoma soon.

The "hot oil" boys don't like the code one little bit. It cramps their style plenty. Their only hope of carrying on in a care-free manner is to convince home politicians that their sacred sovereignty is being impaired. Their record at convincing politicians is A1.

W. S. Farish of Standard of New Jersey and others worked out a telegram to be sent over the president's signature to governors of oil-producing states. It asked the states to begin proration at once instead of waiting 30 days for the code to go into effect. Apparently the telegram hasn't yet been sent. California, Kansas and Louisiana are expected to fail in line because they have little to lose. But New York hears that "Ma" Ferguson and Alfalfa Bill Murray might pull a stall.

The president is expected to choose a majority of the committee of 15 to govern the oil industry from the nominees of the group that favors price fixing. Otherwise the Towel of Babel act would begin all over again.

STEEL

Steel men are secretly more pleased with their code than they care to let on. For one thing it eliminates the price wars which have been the industry's pet poison for years. For another they came out better on the open shop proposition than they expected. The government yielded some ground at the last minute in the interests of peace and progress. They feel pretty well entrenched against the unions now. But the real struggle on that point has only been postponed—not thrown out entirely.

COPPER

The price provisions of the copper code will be largely tailored to Anaconda's measure. Anaconda is a high cost producer. The point is that Anaconda is in a position to put more men to work than any other company in the industry.

WHITE COLLAR

Federation of Labor officials aim high. They recently asked an officer of the federal reserve bank for permission to address the bank's employees on their rights under the NRA or to distribute literature among them explaining the advantages of unionism and collective bargaining.

The officer promised to take the matter up with Governor Harrison. He did. The answer was a polite no.

But the union officials aren't quitting that easily. They are planning to buttonhole bank clerks as they leave the building. Also.

Summer Visitor Here Is Complimented At Bridge Luncheon

Calling together a little group of friends of Miss Helen Mars, summer guest in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Mars, 1901 Spurgeon street, Mrs. Eugene A. Robinson entertained Wednesday at a luncheon of informal charm in her home, 1802 Spurgeon street.

Pink and white cosmos gave an airy, delicate effect to the table arranged with covers for eight. Mrs. Robinson and her honoree, Miss Mars, Mrs. Walter E. Mars, Mrs. William Waddell, Mrs. Jesse Elliott, Mrs. Don S. Moxley, Mrs. G. W. Leive and Mrs. Chester Hawk.

After their leisurely enjoyment of the appetizing luncheon menu, guests formed two tables for bridge, seeking the shady garden at the rear of the home for the contest. When scores were tallied, it was learned that Mrs. Jesse Elliott was high, so to her went the pretty chromium bonbon dish selected by her hostess, while a bit of imported pottery was consolation to Mrs. Waddell for low scoring.

Miss Mars, honoree at this pleasant party, will leave soon for New York city to resume her duties as assistant principal in one of the city schools. She is a frequent summer visitor in Santa Ana, where there are many friends as well as her family, to welcome her return.

P-T. A. Board Members Combine Social and Business Affairs

When Mrs. H. C. Brown opened her home at 1415 West Washington avenue this week to members of the executive board of Woodrow Wilson P-T. A., the meeting was an interesting combination of social features with business discussions relative to the year's work.

Mrs. Brown had attended the P-T. A. convention held in Long Beach earlier in the summer, gaining many valuable suggestions from convention classes to be passed on to her board members. The importance of good programs for unit meetings was among matters given special emphasis.

Program plans of Woodrow Wilson P-T. A. for the year, as outlined by a committee of which Mrs. Russell Adkinson is chairman, were presented by Mrs. Adkinson. They were bound in blue folders in which the oak, National association emblem, was cleverly combined with the orange by their designer, Miss Thelma Marks.

Agreeing as to the desirability of all mothers of Woodrow Wilson school children identifying themselves with the association, board members worked out a plan whereby each would assume the responsibility of telephoning a certain number of mothers each month of the school year, extending invitation to attend the month's P-T. A. meeting. Arrangements will be made to have a responsible woman to take charge of tiny children during the interval, so mothers of young children will be free to attend.

The final business matter under discussion was the reception which the executive board will tender Woodrow Wilson teachers on the night of September 20, with fathers of the association as special guests also. Frank A. Henderson, president of schools, will give a short talk on current legislation pertaining to schools.

For the remainder of the afternoon guests chatted of summer vacation trips, two of special interest being those taken by Miss Berthie Barclay, principal of the school, and Mrs. Brown, the hostess, who had planned to select the same state of Oregon for their travels.

To complete her hospitality Mrs. Brown served home-made cookies and cake with hot coffee and iced tea to her guests who were Mrs. George Calhoun, Mrs. C. W. Eggleston, Mrs. L. J. Nesbitt, Mrs. Russell Adkinson, Mrs. Warren McCarty, Mrs. D. B. Carmichael, Mrs. H. R. Hendrie, Mrs. N. Thornburg, Miss Berthie Barclay, Mrs. Paul Ragan, Mrs. Harry Becker, Mrs. Gilbert Brown and Mrs. A. E. Purlington.

Indoor Sports Hold Birch Park Party

Santa Ana Indoor Sports, that group of brave sufferers who refuse to allow pain and illness to affect their cheerful spirits, joined in a happy affair this week when one of their number, Mrs. Mary Bardin, 701 East First street, was honored guest at a Birch park party in celebration of her seventy-first birthday anniversary.

For the past seven years, Mrs. Bardin has been confined to her home, with four years of that time spent in bed. It is only in the past three months that she has improved sufficiently to be taken out in her wheel chair or in an automobile with the help of Elijah F. Carille. This improvement made it possible for her to go to Birch park Monday, where members and friends of the Indoor Sports club were gathered for a picnic luncheon.

Indoor Sports present in addition to the honoree, were Mrs. Mary A. Boehner, Mrs. Blanche Wright, Frank ("Brownie") Simonson and Bob Smith. The "Good Sports" and friends attending were Mrs. O. A. Harmon, Mrs. H. Vardy, Mary Jane and Margaret Vardy, Mrs. C. D. Henderson, Mrs. H. G. Mertens, Mrs. Mildred Rogers and baby Billy, Mrs. Daisy Bulward, Lorraine and Melvin Bulward, Mrs. Mary E. Dockrell, Mrs. Maud Seale, Mattie Hampton, Emma Shields, Mrs. R. H. Shields, Mrs. S. A. Peaslee, Mrs. H. P. Van De Walker, Gene and Joy Van De Walker, Mrs. Alfred Edger, Mrs. J. Hamilton, Mrs. Cora Mead, Mrs. C. W. Hunzinger, Nna Hunzinger, Mrs. George Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mason, E. F. Carille and E. E. Hearn.

Picnickers Take Part In Canyon Outing

The summer home of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Dooley in Trabuco Oaks, was the scene of an enjoyable gathering recently when Gibraltar Casualty Insurance association agents and their wives met for a covered dish dinner. The host, P. E. Dooley, is district manager of the association.

Group pictures were taken during the afternoon by Howard Hendricks, to serve as a memento of a delightful gathering. Dinner at 6 o'clock featured many appetizing dishes including quantities of fried chicken. The after-dinner interval was devoted by the men to a business conference and by their wives to more social pleasures.

Tomorrow's Bride Made Honoree at Shower Of Gifts

Complimenting Miss Dedah Gilbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Gilbert, 320 West Eighteenth street, who tomorrow will become the bride of the Rev. William Corlett Jr. of Pasadena, was a miscellaneous shower at which Mrs. J. L. Sharar of Oange, entertained this week in her home.

Many flowers were used in adorning the home where guests spent a busy evening hemming tea towels for the honoree. As they sewed they were entertained by an informal program including piano selections and songs by Miss Gilbert, an accomplished musician, and humorous readings by the Misses Pearl Galloway, Cora Dunham and Alpha Gilbert.

Presentation of a beautiful assortment of shower gifts to the bride-elect was followed by the serving of dainty individual cakes and fruit punch by Mrs. Sharar assisted by the Misses Beulah Martin and Alpha Gilbert.

Mrs. Sharar's party was the last of a series for which Miss Gilbert has been incentive since her engagement was announced. They included a trousseau shower given by a group of her college friends at Pasadena college, where she has been taking a musical course.

Guests of Mrs. Sharar in addition to her honoree, Miss Dedah Gilbert, were the latter's mother and sisters, Mrs. Clyde Gilbert and the Misses Alpha and Florine Gilbert; Mrs. Ethel Otto, Mrs. David Botroff and the Misses Lola Mae Sharar, Hildred Martin, Beulah Martin, Marie Kolenberger, Lydia, Lois and Naomi Katz, Pearl Galloway, Eva and Vena Martin and Lois Detweiler.

Little Friends Bidden To Share Pleasant Birthday Party

Five-year-old Marilyn Mae Smith's birthday party, given recently by her mother, Mrs. R. L. Smith, 1112 West Chestnut street, will not only be recalled by Marilyn and her playmates as a joyous memory, but may be visualized for them through the medium of motion pictures, many of which were taken during the afternoon.

Merry games played on the lawn included a peanut hunt, in which Master Newell Smith, cousin of the little honoree, was fortunate in winning the prize. Many other prizes were awarded in various contests.

As the afternoon waned Marilyn and her playmates were taken indoors to find places around a prettily arranged table. Yellow and green dillies were used, and in the center was a fascinating box in the same colors, with streamers leading to each place. When these were drawn each child received an appropriate gift which had been concealed in the box.

Orange ice and a birthday cake of angel food trimmed in green and topped with five yellow candles, were served the children. This cake was the gift of Marilyn's grandmother, Mrs. W. H. Thomas, who assisted her daughter, Mrs. Smith, as did the latter's sister, Mrs. Walter Schlack and Mrs. Clarence Smith.

Those sharing in the happy afternoon and bringing tribute of birthday gifts to the young playmate were Carmela Lee McMahon, Gordon Mills, Donald Bass, Vernon Schlack, Helen Rogers, Verna Echols, Lawrence Schilling, Dickie Frazer, Newell Smith, Donald Ainsworth and Kenneth Ainsworth.

Relief Corps

Fourteen officers and an equal number of members were present at the regular meeting of Sedgwick Women's Relief Corps Wednesday afternoon in Knights of Pythias hall with Mrs. Julia Cozad, president, conducting the business session.

Department general orders were read concerning the national encampment of G. A. R. to be held in St. Paul, Minn., from September 17 to 22. An invitation was given by the four Relief Corps in Los Angeles to attend a luncheon and reception for deputy commanders, Overton Mennet, M. D., and Eva L. Christian, and for both staffs of officers to be given August 29 in College Inn, 2306 South Figueroa street, Los Angeles. Sixty-one calls made and 22 bouquets given were reported as well as the quilt given by Mrs. Dora Spangler finished and the comfort completed. The charter was draped in memory of the late Mrs. Frances Dresser.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Stewart have returned to their home at 623 South Birch street following a three months' vacation spent in Tampa, Fla., where Mr. and Mrs. Stewart were guests of their nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schooley. From there they went on to Pittsburgh, Pa., to spend the remainder of their vacation in and near that city. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart celebrated their 56th wedding anniversary early in May, leaving the next day by train on this pleasant second wedding trip.

Honeymooners to Visit Northern California Before Return

Before a fern banked altar from which peeped yellow and pink flowers soft in the glow of slender tapers and shadowed by a large white wedding bell, Miss Olga McDonald became the bride of Byron Fellows at a charmingly informal ceremony held Wednesday evening in the home of the bride's parents at Irvine. The Rev. Robert Burns McAuley, pastor of Orange First Presbyterian church, officiated. Miss McDonald is the daughter of Mrs. O. H. Staples of Irvine and the groom is the son of W. C. Fellows, Orange.

For this quiet single ring service Miss McDonald wore a smart dark blue sports dress with gray accessories and a dainty shoulder corsage of white sweet peas and maidenhair fern. Her only attendant, Mrs. Claude Butler, also chose a dark blue tulle, and her corsage was of pink sweet peas and maidenhair fern. Mr. Fellows was assisted by Carl Elliste of Long Beach as best man.

Flowing the ceremony molded ice cream and a tiered wedding cake which the bride had cut were served the new Mr. and Mrs. Fellows, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Chastain and Miss Cara Fellows of Orange, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Butler, George McDonald, Ray Welles of Tustin, Miss Mildred Staples of Anaheim, Miss Neva McDonald, Miss Vera McDonald, Mrs. Jesse Hollenbeck, Irvin Watkins of Laguna Beach, Gould ("Bud") Staples, Frank DuBois Jr. of Pacific Grove, Junior Staples, Mr. and Mrs. O. ## Graduate Nurse Wedded To Medical Student At Quiet Rites

In accordance with a preference on the part of the bride for quiet wedding rites, the service which yesterday united Miss Margaret Barnum Bondley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Bondley, 1068 West First street, and George Carl Anderson, son of Carl L. Anderson, Buena Park, were of the utmost simplicity.

It was a noon service, read in St. John's Episcopal church, San Bernardino, by the rector, the Rev. Lytton Patton. Adopting a smart black and white effect in her costume, Miss Bondley chose a modish ensemble with all dress accessories to complete the color effect, even to the spray of gardenias which formed her shoulder corsage.

Mrs. John McConnell of Fullerton, her matron of honor, was gowned in soft blue crepe. Mr. Anderson was unattended. Guests at the rites were confined to members of the family, Mr. and Mrs. Christian Bondley and Carl L. Anderson, parents of the young couple, and the Misses Isabel and Betty Alice Bondley, sisters of the bride.

Following the exchange of wedding vows, the young couple returned to the Anderson home, 245 Darlington avenue, Buena Park, where the senior Mr. Anderson was dinner host last night in compliment to his son and new daughter-in-law.

NRA PROGRAM OUTLINED FOR SERVICE CLUBS

ORANGE, Aug. 25.—Ninety-three persons were seated at the joint luncheon at the American Legion clubhouse Thursday, when members of the Lions club were guests of the members of the Rotary club, Don Smiley, president of the Rotarians, presided. The speaker of the day was Franklin P. Speed of the Los Angeles chamber of commerce speaker's bureau.

Speed was introduced by Gordon X. Richmond, head of the committee appointed to conduct an NRA educational program here. Service clubs of the city are to take up the NRA program as a major activity. Richmond declared.

Discussing the NRA program from a matter-of-fact basis, Speed outlined the progress which has been made in putting over the president's program. The program was planned primarily to correct abuses which have grown up throughout the country, he declared. The rules are based on fair play. The same effects are to be felt in breaking them as would be felt by a player in any game or sport who defies the rules laid down, he said.

In building the codes, fair practice and common sense have entered largely into their construction, the speaker explained, and the building is going to take time and patience. There is still a great deal of distress and unemployment, the speaker pointed out as he told of plans to push the relief program as rapidly as possible.

In order to get jobs, bidders have made low bids and have often made no profits, ruining themselves and their competitors, he said.

The fact that not many questions are asked about the program at meetings where he is speaking, is proof to him that the public in general understands the program and this has been brought about by the publicity ## given by radio and newspapers. Speed declared.

Public opinion is the weapon to be used to keep business firms in line, said Speed, but he urged that no attention should be paid to rumors which were started concerning violations of the NRA program. These rumors, he said, might be started by enemies of or disgruntled employees.

JELLY MAKING ADVICE GIVEN BY U. S. BUREAU

"What causes sugar crystals in jelly?" This is a question constantly asked the Bureau of Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Crystals may form from a number of causes. They may result, says the Bureau, from an excess of sugar, from overcooking, lack of sufficient acid in the fruit, or from allowing the jelly to stand too long before sealing.

Crystals in grape jelly from cultivated grapes are not sugar but crystals of cream of tartar (potassium acid tartrate). One way of avoiding them somewhat is to allow the juice to stand overnight, then siphon it off or strain it. Another way is to can the juice and allow it to stand for some time before making into jelly. Or combine it with other fruit juices.

"Why does some jelly 'weep' or run as soon as it is cut?" "Weeping" occurs in jellies made from very acid fruits. It is especially noticeable with cranberry and currant jelly. When making jellies from these fruits use small glasses that hold just enough for one meal.

"Does mold on jelly make it unfit for use? What causes it?" Mold may grow on jellies when the paraffin layer has become loosened, or on jellies which have oozed, or jellies stored in a hot damp place. If mold is growing on the top of the paraffin it is not likely to affect the jelly. But if mold grows beneath the paraffin, the flavor of the jelly may be impaired. Sometimes it can be scraped off and the rest of the jelly used.

"What causes jelly to ferment?" Fermentation of jelly is caused by yeast or bacteria. Steps to safeguard against fermentation are the use of new paraffin each year, the use of sterilized jelly glasses, protection of the jelly from contamination before sealing, and care to obtain good seals by rotating the jelly glass in the hand when the paraffin is put on so that it will run up to the rim of the glass to make a good seal.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, Aug. 25.—Guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Fox have been Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McGill of Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. Wellington De LaVerne and family are at home from June lake.

The Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Matson and son, Wesley, have returned after an absence of several weeks, during which time Mr. and Mrs. Matson taught at the Epworth league summer camp. They made a three-day trip to Zion park. At Delano the Matsons visited friends and at Santa Maria the Rev. Mr. Matson preached for the Rev. Mr. Arthur Nagel. Mrs. Nagel is a former Wintersburg girl. Miss Alice Willmarth, the daughter of the Rev. J. Scott Willmarth a former pastor, and Mrs. Willmarth.

Raymond Holt, young son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Holt who was injured recently in an automobile accident on Seventeenth street at Berrydale, is now at home from the hospital.

Miss Mildred Bailey is caring for Mrs. Hamilton Moore who is confined at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Keener. Mrs. Moore was injured in a fall several months ago.

Mrs. Lee Sowers and son, Bobbie, who have been spending a week in Long Beach as guests of Mrs. Sowers' relatives, have returned home.

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Raw Spinach Salad
(An original contribution)
Shred as much raw spinach as will be required for your family (1 pound will serve four). Add a little finely chopped or ground onion and a little finely cut raw cauliflower. Mix with mayonnaise and serve at once. Salt and pepper, ad lib.

There are plenty of vitamins in this salad, aren't there? Try this delicious salad on the whole family. You'll be surprised how it will tempt the delicate jaded appetite of child or adult.

For the family serve hot bran muffins, jam and milk.

Are you annoyed with hangnails? Most women are who do their own work and attend to a garden. I found out something the other evening that helps this condition: We were sitting after dinner, in the candlelight, windows open, wind blowing the flame askew. Presently wax-icles began to form and I leaned over and nipped off a few, kept turning them in my hands while talking. Presently I noticed that the skin on my hands was moist and smooth, so I moulded the soft wax around a finger tip or two, then pressed it back. It ironed the hang nails out like magic. I think the idea might be worked out in practical form prior to the usual manicure procedure.

TODAY'S RECIPE

City Chicken

(Contributed Recipe)
½ pound veal
½ pound lean pork
1 beaten egg
Flour, seasoned with salt and pepper
Fat for frying
¼ cup water
When you buy your meat ask your butcher to include a dozen wooden skewers. Cut the meat in pieces about the size of half-dollars and slip them onto the skewers, a piece of each, then a piece of pork, until you have about 10 pieces on each skewer (this quantity will fill four skewers possibly).

Roll each meat-filled skewer in egg, then in flour and place in the hot fat in the middle of the skillet. Fry to a golden brown, drain off the fat, season with a dash of garlic, salt and pepper, add the ¼ cup of hot water, cover and simmer until the meat is tender, about 30 minutes. The fire should be just a glimmer under the skillet. Take the City Chicken from the pan and make a little cream gravy to serve with it.

Each portion after frying, has an approximate calory value of 400.

I think these might be fun to take on a picnic . . . you know how we all love cooking over a campfire, even one that smokes! Get them all ready, egg and flour, then chilled in the refrigerator. Wrap in waxed paper and fry them over the open fire.

Saturday: Crisp Cucumber

Pickles, a bit sweet, but not a speck of fat-making ingredients in the whole batch. How come? Read tomorrow's column and see.

SMELTZER

SMELTZER, Aug. 25.—Members of the J. A. Murdy, Jr., family are now located in their home, which was remodelled due to earthquake damage. The Murdys have been at their Sunset Beach cottage.

Mrs. Minnie Pyle attended an Eastern Star club luncheon at the Huntington Beach home of Mrs. Schuth this week.

William Phillips, Mr. Phillips' mother, Mrs. Eliza Phillips, and his niece, Miss Gertrude Bramley, of Santa Ana, are spending several days here. Dr. and Mrs. Hawkins, of Pasadena, were overnight guests and a son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. Gillespie, and family, of Compton, were with them Sunday. Bill Van Zee, of Long Beach, and Thomas Bowen, of Santa Ana, were entertained Monday, while their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Attell, of Newhall; Mrs. Phillips' sister, Mrs. Fred Reuther, of Saugus, and Mr. and Mrs. Z. A. Wattell, of Los Angeles, were here Tuesday.

Health
Is half
of success

Few men achieve their goal without vitality and drive. And so many are held back from their best by a common ailment: constipation. It dulls energy, often causes headaches, sleeplessness. It takes the vim out of your day's work.

Correct constipation by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it becomes a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than using pills and drugs—so often harmful.

Two tablespoons daily will correct most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

ALL-BRAN also has iron for the blood. At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

How to make
everytime

Use a Drip Coffee Maker in which boiling water drips through a specially prepared coffee and a filter paper. Specially prepared Schilling Drip Coffee. Schilling Drip Coffee is specially blended, specially roasted and specially ground for the immediate extraction of all its rich, fragrant flavor. Coffee intended for a percolator is not adapted for the drip process in which the water drips through the coffee but once. A filter paper rests below the coffee to let through nothing but the delicious healthful amber drops. Real Drip Coffee cannot be made otherwise. For your convenience, filter papers are packed in each Schilling tin.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

The swordfish stopped its sawing and wee Duncy said, "That hole is grand. I see the chest inside the ship. Come on, let's get it out."

"Okay," said Copsy. "I'll go, too, and we will see what we can do. The fisherman is waiting up above, without a doubt."

Soon little Duncy said, "Oh gee! This thing's as heavy as can be. Why, we can't even budge it. We will have to call the rest."

And so they joined the bunch outside. "Why, what's the matter?" Shrimpy cried. "We couldn't move it." Duncy said, "although we did our best."

"We came out here to ask the bunch to help us." "Wait, I have a hunch," said Shrimpy. "Why should we work hard? I know a better way."

"Here comes a bullhead friend of mine. We'll have him grab hold of the line and pull the treasure chest out." All the Tiniest cried, "Hurray!"

When Mister Bullhead came up near, of Shrimpy said, "I'm glad you're here. These little lads are Tiniest. They want some help from you."

"It's something you can do, I hope. Just grab hold of this big, long rope and pull until I holler stop. That's all you need to do."

The fish then flipped around a bit. "Hey, here's the rope! Grab hold of it," said Scouty. And the bullhead did. "Now, pull!" wee Duncy cried.

"The rope's tied to a chest, you see. The chest is heavy as can be, but if you jerk real hard, I'm sure you'll get the chest outside."

The Tiniest looked on with awe. It was a thrilling sight they saw. The big fish pulled and pulled again. "Keep at it," Copsy cried.

"Don't worry," Shrimpy said. "He will!" And then there came a sudden jerk. The fish gave one more good jerk, and the big chest came outside.

"MURDER BACKSTAIRS"

BEGIN HERE TODAY
SPECIAL INVESTIGATOR DUNDEE is summoned to the house of JUANITA SELIM, murdered during a bridge party. He believes that the woman has been shot by one of the guests. Dundee orders the guests to take the bodies they occupied from the dealing of the "death hand" until the body was found. He learns the following things: PENNY CRAIN, KAREN MARSHALL and CAROLYN DRAKE are playing bridge. LOIS DUNLAP and TRACEY MILES are in the dining room. JUDGE MARSHALL comes in soon after the beginning of the hand. JOHN DRAKE comes in just before the end of the hand. DEXTER comes in together at the end of the hand, and goes into the dining room. CLIVE HAMMOND, her fiancé, comes in soon after the beginning of the hand. In the hall, Dundee sees FLORA MILES, who hysterically says that she is the murderer. He goes to the guests' lavatory, to make up. Her bridge tally is missing. After learning that no one was seen outside, Dundee sends the guests to the living room and tells CAPTAIN STRAWN his findings. Suddenly he exclaims, and throws open the door to Nita's closet.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XI
Almost immediately Special Investigator Dundee rose from his crouching position on the floor of Nita Selim's closet, and faced the chief of the homicide squad of Hamilton's police force.

"I think," he said quietly, for all the excitement that burned in his blue eyes, "that we'd better have Mrs. Miles in for a few questions."
"What have you got there—a dance program?" Strawn asked curiously, but as Dundee continued to stare silently at the thing he held, the older man strode to the door and relayed the order to a plainclothes detective.
"I sent for Mrs. Miles," Dundee said coldly, when husband and wife appeared together. Flora's thin, tense shoulders encircled protectively by Tracey's plump arm.
"If you're going to badger my wife further, I intend to be pres-handkerchief of fine embroidered linen and a pair of brown suede gauntlet gloves.

"Will you let me have the note, please, Mrs. Miles? The note Nita received during her luncheon party, and which she thrust, before your eyes, into a pocket of this coat? ... It is in your hand bag, I am sure, since you have had no opportunity, unobserved, to destroy it."
"What ghastly nonsense is this, Dundee?" Tracey Miles demanded furiously.

But Dundee again ignored him. His implacable eyes held Flora Miles' until the woman broke suddenly, pitifully. She fumbled in the raffia bag which had been hanging from her arm.
"Good God, Flora! What does it all mean?" Tracey Miles collapsed like a pricked pink balloon, became almost as wrinkled and absurd, as he saw the corner of a blue-gray envelope slowly emerging from his wife's hand bag. "That's my stationery—one of my business envelopes—"

Flora Miles dropped the bag, which she need no longer watch and clutch with terror, as she dug her thin fingers into her husband's shoulders and looked down at his puzzled face, for she was a little taller than he.
"Forgive me, darling! Oh, I knew God would punish me for being jealous! I thought you were writing love letters to—to that woman—" Dundee did not miss the slightest significance of that scene as he retrieved the hand bag and drew out the blue-gray envelope. It was inscribed, in a curious handwriting: "Mrs. Selim, Private Dining Room, Breakaway Inn."

"Let's see, boy," Strawn said, with respect in his harsh voice.
Dundee withdrew the single sheet of business stationery, and obligingly held it so that the chief of detectives could read it also.
"Nita, my sweet," the note began, without date line. "Forgive your bad boy for last night's row, but I must warn you again to watch your step. You've already gone too far. Of course I love you and understand, but—Be good. Baby, and you won't be sorry."
The note was signed "Dexy."

Dundee tapped the note for a long minute, while Tracey Miles continued to console his wife. A new avenue, he thought—perhaps a long, long avenue....
"Mrs. Miles," he began abruptly, and the tear-streaked face turned toward him. "You say you thought this letter to Mrs. Selim had been written by your husband?"
"Yes," she gasped. "I'm jealous-natured. I admit it—I mean, when I saw one of our own—when I saw of Tracey's envelopes—"
"You made up your mind to steal it and read it?"
"Yes, I did! A wife has a right to know what her husband's doing, if it's anything—like that—"
Her haggard black eyes again implored her husband for forgiveness. He looked at her for a moment, then he slipped into Nita's room, and went into the closet in her coat pocket. I closed the door on myself, thinking I could find the light cord, but it caught in one of the dresses or something and it took me a long time to find it in the dark of the closet, but I did find it at last, and was just reading the note—"
"You read it, even after you saw that the handwriting on the envelope wasn't your husband's?" Dundee queried in assumed amazement.

Flora's thin body sagged. "I— I thought maybe Tracey had disguised his handwriting. . . . So I read it, and saw it was from Dexter—"
"Mr. Miles, do you know how some of your business stationery got into Sprague's hands?"
"He had plenty of opportunity to filch stationery or almost anything he wants, hanging around my office, as he does—an idler—"
But Dundee was in a hurry. He wheeled from the garrulity of the husband to the tense terror of the wife.

Mrs. Miles, I want you to tell me exactly what you know, unless you prefer to consult a lawyer first—"
"Sir, if you are insinuating that my wife—"
"Oh, let me tell him, Tracey," Mrs. Miles capitulated suddenly, completely. "I was in the closet when Nita was killed. I suppose, but I didn't know she was being killed! Because I was lying in there on the closet floor in a dead faint!"

Dundee stared at the woman in credulity, then suppressed a groan of almost unbearable disappointment. If Flora Miles was telling the truth, here went away his only eye witness, probably, or rather, his only ear witness.

"Just when did you faint, Mrs. Miles?" he asked, struggling for patience. "Before or after Nita came into this room?"
"I was just finishing the note, with the light on in the closet, and the door shut, when I heard Nita come into the room. I knew it was Nita because she was singing one of those Broadway songs she is— was—so crazy about. I jerked off the light, and crouched away back in a corner of the closet. A velvet evening wrap fell down over my head, and I was nearly smothering, but I was afraid to try to dislodge it for fear a hanger would fall to the floor and make an awful clatter. And then—and then—" She shuddered, and clung to her husband.

"What caused you to faint, Mrs. Miles?"
"Sir, my wife has heart trouble—"

"What did you hear, Mrs. Miles?" Dundee persisted.
"I couldn't hear very well, all tangled up in the coat and 'way back in the closet, but I did hear a kind of bang or bump—no, no! not a pistol shot!—and because it came from so near me I thought it was Nita or Lydia coming to get something out of the closet, and I'd be discovered, so I—I fainted—"

She drew a deep breath and went on: "When I came to I heard Karen screaming, and then people running in— But all the time that awful tune was going on and on—"
"Tune?" Dundee gasped. "Do you mean Nita Selim's—song?"

PLAN MORE JOBS POSSIBLE

ANAHEIM, Aug. 25.—Property owners on North Los Angeles street, between Sycamore and La Palma streets, last night adopted a resolution instructing the Chamber of Commerce and Planning commission secured the remaining 11 deeds of property, if possible, so that the street may be re-surfaced and widened according to state highway requirements.

The resolution also provided that a committee of property owners be appointed by the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce to interview the property owners who have not yet given the necessary deeds.

The mass meeting was called by the planning commission, Chamber of Commerce and city council. Dr. Walter Bigham, chairman of the planning commission, presided at the session held in the city hall.

In reviewing the history of the proposed improvement Dr. Bigham explained that only six owners have absolutely refused to sign, the other five have signified that their property is tied up in estate and litigation, but will be taken into court as soon as all other deeds are secured.

Most of the opposition arises from the fact that the state will assume the expense of moving property back between Spadra and La Palma streets while the property owners between La Palma and Sycamore must pay their own expenses.

While state laws require that a highway have an 80 foot highway North Los Angeles street will not be re-surfaced now and will not be widened until it can be done through the entire city. Dr. Bigham stated.

Property owners have been asked to deed 51-4 feet to give the required 80 foot right of way. The entire project, as planned, will cost $42,000, the state to pay one-half, the county one-fourth and the city one-fourth of the expenses.

Engineer E. A. Hapgood pointed out that this financing means that each property owner is saved the expenditure of approximately $125 per 50 foot lot, an expense that they must assume if this project is turned down and paving becomes necessary in five or six years. In this latter case the cost to the property owner would be at least $250 apiece.

If the project is turned down the city does not plan to use condemnation proceedings, Dr. Bigham declared. He explained that this latter course would take too long, from six months to a year, that the signatures of one-half the property owners would be required and that the Mills Drive tract is so heavily bonded that it could not stand another bond issue.

ANAHEIM, Aug. 25.—Pledging its support to the city council the Chamber of Commerce yesterday noon on record as endorsing the council's action towards the betterment of the municipal light distribution system when a resolution was adopted to that effect.

George W. Reid, secretary, was instructed to send the resolution to the city council and state that the booster body urges the council to construct as much of the proposed work as can be financed by the city with the assistance of the federal government under the National Industrial Recovery Act.

Reid gave a brief outline on requirements for the state sales tax and urged each member to send in the dollar business license fee immediately. He said that written instructions sent him have been delivered to 200 merchants.

ANAHEIM, Aug. 25.—The opening dates for two more of Anaheim's schools were announced today. St. Catherine's Military school and St. Joseph's School for Girls both opening on Tuesday, September 11.

Mad. D. M. Healy, his wife and son, Jack, will return next week from a two weeks' trip east where they have visited the Century of Progress Exposition and other interesting points. Major Healy is at the head of St. Catherine's Military school.

they will complain to Washington that this quasi-governmental institution is not living up to the spirit of the NRA. The hope to induce some congressman to thunder against the federal reserve bank governor when congress is again in session.

They will probably succeed. The local reserve bank is only too aware that it isn't exactly popular in Washington.

HOSPITALS

An embassy from General Johnson tried to persuade the trustees of the Roosevelt hospital to set an example with a hospital code. The trustees said not a chance.

Private hospitals have been badly hit. If retail prices go up much some of them may be forced to close their doors. Contributors are no longer able to make up large deficits and endowments have suffered heavily from blighted dividends and defaulted bonds.

Bare existence is a serious problem without tacking on extra costs. (Copyright, 1935, McClure Newspaper Syn.)

FINANCIAL MARKET NEWS

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(UP)—Inflation activity—purchase of government securities by the Federal Reserve—and an agreement on a wheat recovery price at the London conference today set in motion a new bull movement in stocks and commodities.

Stocks rose 1 to more than 6 points and volume increased sharply in early trading and near the close. The dollar dropped to around 70c in terms of gold currencies and gold jumped to a new high in the London market.

Gold mining stocks were in demand. Homestake mining, at one time touched 26 1/2, up 2 1/2 points and a record high. Others of the group made gains of 1 to 2 points.

The incentive to buying of stocks was provided by the weekly Federal Reserve report which showed that the bank had bought $25,000,000 in U. S. government securities in the last week.

Groups participated, but more speculative and high priced shares made the widest gains. Shorts bunched for stock late in the day, their buying being a big factor in the rise.

Chicago Bd. of Trade

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—(UP)—Grain markets whirled upward today as buying orders poured into the pit. The wheat market was strong and favorable reports of progress at the London wheat conference added to bullish sentiment.

Wheat climbed almost 4 cents a bushel. In spite of selling pressure created by reports of a surplus which has been on the bear side for several days, the market eased off only moderately and the upward movement advanced in sterling exchange accelerated the rise. More outside buying interest was shown in wheat taking sales were readily absorbed. Corn, oats and rye moved up with wheat.

At the close wheat was 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 higher. Corn was up 1 1/2 to 2 cents and oats were 1 to 1 1/2 cent higher.

PLANS OF GOVERNMENT DEFEATED BY HIGHWAY COMMISSION

The unemployed, the taxpayers of Orange county and of the state, all people who are at all awake to the situation in our country, and the efforts which are being put forth by the administration to hasten prosperous days, should be interested in what is transpiring in California in respect to highway appropriations.

$15,630,000 was allocated to California, in excess of all other expected amounts of money, to be used promptly following the first of July for putting the unemployed to work, of which not a dollar has yet been used, because of the differences in the purpose of the national administration and the highway commission of California. There has been set aside by the Federal government $3,300,000,000 for public works, and of this $3,300,000,000, $400,000,000 was set apart to be used immediately in the various states to get the unemployed to work. Thinking it could be done more quickly through the highway commission, it was given authority to use the money, Washington reserving the right to O. K. the plans.

The only conditions laid down by the Federal government were that 50 per cent should be used on so-called "Federal" roads, 25 per cent in cities, and 25 per cent on those roads which were designated as "feeder" roads to airports, railroad junctions, etc. The plan of the Federal government was to get this money immediately to work. Various organizations, including Chambers of Commerce, suggested that the allocation of this amount of $15,630,000, could well be proportioned on the same basis as the gas tax funds, because the gas tax was determined upon the use of gas, which in turn was pretty well determined by population, and population in the state was almost a direct criterion of the number of unemployed people in any specific county.

According to this program, Orange county would have been entitled immediately to $350,000. This would have been available the first of July, and in view of the fact that Federal funds, which have been used through the Welfare department, were not available during July and August, this would have taken its place, and have insured a vast employment of labor, as well as great service on the highways. But not a dollar of this money has been available; not a dollar has been spent.

Why not? Because instead of using the funds as designed and desired by the Federal government to put the unemployed immediately to work, the highway commission, which already has its vast millions from the gas tax, and from Federal appropriations, simply has spent its time revamping its program and taking this $15,630,000 additional, and putting it in with the other money. It has been planning, not with the idea of putting the people immediately to work, but of building highways, making contracts for contractors, buying cement, and building bridges where great profits will result to a certain few. And then they proceed to try to tell what wonderful things they are GOING to do in their highway program.

They are going to put $200,000 on the Santa Ana canyon road. There is no crying need for increased appropriation for the road. While it can be improved no one would contend that an expenditure of $200,000 is necessary. They are going to put $180,000 at the Arches, that is, at the junction of the Coast Highway with Newport Boulevard, to build a viaduct over the Coast highway, so that people reaching Newport Beach from this direction will not be delayed. And $30,000 on a bridge at San Juan Capistrano, which was built new only six years ago.

But this, understand, was a part of the regular state program, in any case. There is not a necessary dollar that is being spent in Orange county by reason of this appropriation of $15,630,000, beyond what might have been a part of the highway program, in any case. Orange county's part of the Federal allocation, as we have said, would have been $350,000.

This program in Orange county, which is a part of the regular state program, amounts to $410,000. Orange county should have had this $410,000, plus the $350,000, which would have been $760,000, to have been used upon a real highway program, plus the amount that the Federal government had appropriated for use on the highways, but primarily to help the unemployed.

Instead of using this money of the Federal government in proportion to the unemployment, there is $230,000 to be used in a county where there are only 242 inhabitants.

To show how unjustly, in the light of the unemployment situation, this money now is appropriated, we would call attention to the fact that in Orange county, with nearly three per cent of the unemployed, there is one and a half per cent of the money allocated. But note Los Angeles county and the injustice there. With 46 per cent of the unemployed, it has but 11 per cent of this money appropriated, namely, less than 25 per cent. Orange county is not in as bad condition, from this standpoint, as Los Angeles county. It has only 50 per cent of what it should have, Los Angeles county but 25 per cent.

No one questions but that the Federal government had primarily in mind the masses of the people, humanity, the real problem of the unemployed. Every activity at Washington proves this. But clearly where the national administration makes a mistake is in assuming that a group like the state highway commission of California has the same purpose in mind as the national administration. It proves conclusively by every act it performs that it has no such conception. It is a political group, politically appointed, with political purposes, carrying out very evidently the wishes, not of the unemployed, nor of those who have the interest of the unemployed at heart, but those who have the interest of the big contractors and cement people as their chief concern.

If the administration at Washington fails in its great undertaking, and in the use to which it is putting the vast resources of the nation, it will fail because it has placed the administration of the money expended in the hands of men who have no conception of the social conditions, of the necessities of the hour, or of the real plan and program of the President, to meet and solve the problems which are before him.

It is lamentable that the taxpayers, the independent citizens, that those who are endeavoring to work for the general good, with utter personal abandon must stand by and see money and position and power turned over to agencies which even in prosperous times are unfit to direct. This is to say nothing about the present, when we are confronted with a condition where short-sightedness and selfishness and determination to make great profit, the desire for building up a political "machine" are not only entirely out of harmony, but absolutely are certain to defeat the purpose of the administration.

Los Angeles is protesting this condition, and as far as her county is concerned, it may have sufficient influence to right it. She may bring too much pressure to bear to permit the unfair program to proceed against her interest. Orange county is a smaller county. Must it be that injustice, unfairness, the hazarding of the President's program, and the suffering of the unemployed must continue, simply because of a lack of sufficient influence to have it corrected? Orange and other counties may suffer now, but if like conditions are prevailing over the nation, all will suffer in the end.

In the meantime, the people languish, the money which was available two months ago is unused. When they get "good and ready," just as if we were in normal times, under the direction of engineers who know roads, but do not know people, they will use the money for highways, and to benefit the cement trust, instead of using it as designed, in the interest of humanity.

We are not uttering this because it will make any difference, but just to preserve our self-respect and to condemn again the prodigality with which money is used by our highway commission, in places where it is not necessary, which proves they have more than they have the intelligence to use.

If this were the idea of the Federal government that larger appropriations were to be used for highways, our State Legislature could have simply lowered our gas tax, and saved the expense in that direction, for this is all that this money is really amounting to, as at present handed.

PLENTY OF GOLD

The figures have just been disclosed of the amount of gold held in the Federal Reserve banks. It is revealed that they possess more of the yellow metal than at any time during the year, and more than at any time during the two years of prosperity before the 1929 debacle. This should relieve the fears of any who have been afraid that the gold backing of the nation's currency was not as large as it used to be.

It is announced that the reserve banks have more gold in their vaults than at any time during their 20 years of existence. During 1933, $400,000,000 has been added to bring the total to $3,500,000,000. The total gold held in this country, which includes the above amounts and that held by the treasury, is $4,320,000,000.

Certainly with such tremendous quantities of gold held in this country, there should be no fear of what may come in the way of monetary change, for there is plenty of gold to fall back on.

Maximum Navy To Put Strain On Japanese Finances

The United States has started, after a pause of some years, to build its navy up to the limit allowed by the Harding treaty which put all the naval powers on a quota basis. We are to spend on construction $235,000,000 in the next three years. This capital outlay comes from national recovery funds allowed for public works. It will spread employment. Thus it has obvious economic value in the present war to end depression. It may also have diplomatic value. Future upkeep of these warships is another question.

Now comes Japan, the naval competitor that gives us most concern, though her rating is far below ours. Her budget allows 45 per cent more for army and navy next year than for this year. There are $50,000,000 for new warships and $21,000,000 for modernization of old ones. The entire naval budget is $190,000,000.

So it goes. Size breeds size. Expense breeds expense. In self-defense the nations toil in a bent line up a topside hill.

Japan's position, dispassionately considered as an economic fact, is deplorable. Her present budget is the largest ever, 2,800,000,000 yen—about $641,010,000 at the yen's present value. This will increase her present deficit, which is 1,000,000,000 yen for the year.

There is this sorry consolation, that we can stand it better than Japan.

A Patient Prince

An American woman who played golf with the Prince of Wales returns with the perfectly thrilling information that he is a "dear" has a "cute walk" and "spiffy blue eyes." Thus it is, again, that sports with their opportunities for international exchange and amenities has contributed to an American knowledge of royalty.

While the young lady did not say so, it is apparent that the British prince is also a patient man. He must know that whenever he dances with an American girl, or plays golf with one, it is but a prelude to her appearance before the cameras and interviewers and that a part of the world will then read or hear an enraptured description, often of a kind not appreciated by a hard working son of a king.

As a way to even things up—though the prince may be too much the gentleman to conform—he should be given the opportunity to tell just what he thinks of his American partners in the dance and on the greens.

DEFERRED AMBITION

When Bill is somewhat older
And quite a little bolder
He says that he
Is going to be
A mounted traffic cop,
And, when he holds his hand out
And shouts a gruff command out,
The brakes will grind
For blocks behind,
And every car will stop.

No fresh chauffeur will sass him,
No bus will dare to pass him,
No rumbling truck
Will run amuck
Beneath his eagle eye;
And, in a voice of thunder
The line of cars he'll sunder
And hold it there
With his stern glare
To let the kids pass by.

Amidst the hurly-burly
He'll ride aloof and surly,
And far and near
He'll awaken fear
And shudders of dismay.
But, he reflects with sorrow,
That cannot be tomorrow;
He'll have to wait—
He just was eight
A week ago today.

PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quillen

Sample of American humor heard on a bus: "He thinks that a paradox is a couple of physicians."

Old song revised: It's always swear weather when good fellows golf together.

"Do we respect old age?" a syndicate scribe inquires. Personally we always raise our hat to a restaurant egg.

It's all right for Mr. Roosevelt to be a dictator so long as he doesn't call himself one. In short, we're only afraid of words.

AWFUL CRISIS: SOMETHING YOU WOULDN'T KNOW ABOUT IF YOU DIDN'T SEE A PAPER FOR THREE DAYS.

Tight corsets used to worry Mother. The only tight thing that bothers Daughter is her husband.

No, Ethel, that gold-hoarding law is not really strict. You will still be permitted to hoard all the gold that your teeth will carry.

AMERICANISM: Deliberately choosing a college of liberal arts in preference to a business school, later complaining because the C. of L. A. did not adequately prepare him for a business career.

Why do they call a gay old Romeo a "rake"? You never saw a rake that took its teeth out at night.

Sample of American humor heard in a cafe: "That blank-blank orchestra plays so loud I can't hear myself eat."

Speaking of golf, the eighteen holes need bunkers and the nineteenth needs debunkers.

New slogan for writers of the sob-sister group: "We Goo Our Part."

YOU CAN TELL WHEN TIMES ARE NORMAL. NOBODY WILL THINK IT NECESSARY TO HAVE THE ORCHESTRA PLAY "HAPPY DAYS ARE HERE AGAIN."

"Brush Peddler Slain; Police Puzzled," says a New York headline. Probably he rang someone's doorbell just when the baby was getting to sleep.

For simile collectors: Threesome as that advertising chatter on the radio.

Suggestion to that Tammany Mayor: Had you thought of attaching meters to their windpipes and levying taxes on the air they breathe?

CORRECT THIS SENTENCE: "IT WAS A LOVE MATCH," SAID THE MILLION-HEIRESS. "—AND I WOULD HAVE MARRIED HIM JUST THE SAME IF HE HAD HAD NO TITLE AT ALL."

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

OUR OWN SCOTLAND YARD

I am not interested in why Mr. Moley has been put at the job of thinking out a better scheme for national action respecting crime and the criminal gang that grew to new proportions during the noble experiment.

Whether he is being shelved or set at the job he can do best, the job he has been set to do is of critical importance.

I am quite aware of the danger of misuse inherent in state police forces and in a federal police system.

But crime is no respecter of political boundaries.

The gangster is not interested in the India ink lines on the maps that tell where one county ends and another begins nor where one state ends and another begins, except that today these lines play into his hands.

From one end of the nation to another we need now to realize that these old political jurisdictions often prevent the sheriffs of counties and the officers of states from following through on a case without serious legal delays and futile kow-towing between this and that authority.

There is a growing interstate commerce in crime that must be taken more vigorously in hand.

Liberals and radicals sometimes grow alarmed when even a state police force is mentioned.

They are quite sure that the only reason it is mentioned is that someone wants to use it for clubbing labor and the farmer into line when trouble arises.

There may be that misuse here and there but that is no reason for doing less than can be done to rid the nation of the new criminal.

Mr. Roosevelt can add another laurel to his brow by doing what may be necessary to decentralize the nation, as Mussolini quickly did Italy of those secret bands of thugs that so long were the shame of Italy and the terror of its people.

STORY TELLING

Story telling is an essential part of a child's education. It makes his world richer, brings many valuable experiences to him when he is not able to go after them. It introduces new people, animals, and ideas that the child might not meet in any other way.

For example, No child would ever meet a fairy if no fairy tales were told to him and in my opinion that would be an irreparable loss.

Children are literal minded. A literal mind is severely restricted. If one can see only what is shoved under his nose, if he understands only what he can see, smell, touch and taste, he is going to lose the greater part of the joy of living for he will not understand the people about him, nor what they do.

The literal minded person is isolated, unfriended and little loved. Imagination works a charm on the human mind. It blurs the sharp edges of fact and leads one to understand, or to feel, that beyond those well defined lines lies a land of dreaming and reality, a land where one can wander and meet delightful people and do interesting and unusual things.

Fairy tales are our first intimation that such a place exists and the stories that follow are charms that open the gates wider and point the way to secret and alluring byways of the spirit.

Little children cannot talk, nor read, nor tell themselves stories. We older people have the privilege of opening this treasure trove for them. It is our happy privilege to tell the first tales, to read the first stories, to set open the gates of the delectable garden of knowledge. It would be a pity, both for ourselves and the children, were we to neglect this force for childhood's growth.

We begin by telling stories, one sentence long, perhaps, but full of action, color and charm, for the child. "Pat-a-cake, pat-a-cake, a-baker's man—" is a child story, so is "Baa, baa black sheep," and "Little Boy Blue." "Mother Goose," "Aesop's Fables," and on up the road to literature, there are hosts of stories.

After telling comes reading. Reading aloud ought to be a daily practice in a household where there are children. This reading establishes a taste and a habit in good reading. It widens the child's field of thought and influences their behavior. It colors their vocabulary and governs their speech. A child who has listened to good English uses it.

During the summer there are more opportunities for story telling and reading to the children than in the remainder of the year. The children are at home. The hours of daylight are longer. The home chores allow it. We read a whole series of fine stories during one canning season. While the group snipped string beans or shelled peas somebody read aloud. It lightened labor and enriched our minds and piled up happy associations around the beans and peas.

Tell the old tales. Read the old stories. They are new to the children. Add a couple of new children's books to keep up to the minute and freshen your own mind. Ask your librarian for help. There is no room for titles but she will be glad to furnish them.
